Traditional Pomp As New Session of Parliament Opens
England's economic crisis and London's fog can't dampen traditional pomp and circumstance as the House of Commons opens its new session of Parliament. This photo shows troops presenting arms as King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, riding in Queen Victoria's famous Irish coach, approach the House of Parliament. Riding in the coach behind, through the fog, is Princess Elizabeth.

Rush Rental Housing Plan For Quick Start on Building

Board of Trade, Legion, City Council Make Decisions With Dominion Official

In an endeavor to have construction started before the onset of severe winter weather, the joint City Council, Board of Trade and Legion committee are pushing aside all obstacles delaying an early start on the 180 rental homes for Vernon.

S.P.C.A. Probes Hammer Killing of Impounded Dogs

Finding Paralyzed Dog Half Buried Near Pound Brings Protest Disposal Method

Declaring that "you might as well hit a human being on the head with a hammer," Miss L. M. Bishop, secretary of the Vernon branch of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, protested to the City Council on Monday night against the hammer blow method used to kill animals at the city pound. The complaint followed another lodged last week after two boys had found a dog partially buried on the side of a creek by the disposal ground near where the pound is located. When the animal was not dead, but partly paralyzed. It was later dispatched by Robert Hunter, poundkeeper. F. Bazeiro laid a complaint against his action.

Poundkeeper Absolved
Subsequent investigation by F. G. DeWolf, city engineer, disclosed that Mr. Hunter said he had never seen the dog before it was brought to his attention. The animal was not dead, but partly paralyzed. It was later dispatched by Robert Hunter, poundkeeper. F. Bazeiro laid a complaint against his action.

$100 in Three Days For Food Gift to Britain

So Far, Local Drive For Royal Wedding Present Will Send 20 Parcels To Needy

It took Vernonites just three days to pour $100 into the coffers for Princess Elizabeth's wedding gift. The campaign for money donations opened here Saturday, and when the money was counted on Tuesday night, local Princess Elizabeth fund officials learned with satisfaction that a least 20 needy families in Great Britain are assured of food parcels from Vernon. The dollar bill proved to be the most popular donation, with approximately 75 percent of the gifts so far in single denominations. Highest individual donation yet received is $15. About 10 percent of the donations received were in 25 cent and 50 cent pieces.

Surprised by Response
Officials were frankly surprised by the response because, as one said, "It's a bad month to ask people to contribute to food parcels because they're spending extra money on their own private parcels to be sent overseas for Christmas." Mrs. W. D. MacKenzie, president of the committee in charge of the fund, is delighted with the results of the campaign so far, but she'd like to see the drive intensified to a still greater extent.

To make it more convenient for persons wishing to give Princess Elizabeth the wedding gift, Mayor Elizabeth the wedding gift fund has been set up on the main floor of the Hudson's Bay Company store.

For persons wishing to deal through a bank, Credit Tyman, of the Royal Bank, is the committee treasurer and is accepting cheques as well as cash donations.

A Poppy Is More Than a Symbol of Our Remembrance

Saturday, November 8, is Poppy Day. The little red symbols of the battlefields will be purchased once again by the men, women and children of Vernon and district in remembrance of their war dead.

Any donation will buy a poppy, and proceeds will be used by the Canadian Legion to help support the families of veterans; to supplement pensions of war widows, and to aid disabled war veterans.

The wearing of the poppy on coat lapels will mean also that many veterans who otherwise would be unable to earn anything towards the support of themselves or their families will be able to earn an income from the poppies made in veteran shops throughout the country.

The poppy sale is being handled by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, assisted by taggers from other women's organizations and the Girl Guides and members of the United Church Canadian Girls in Training.

No One Wants To Lead Vernon's Liberal Group

Impossible To Get Nominee To Stand For Presidency At Local Organization Meet

Shortly after C. W. Morrow, M.L.A. for the North Okanagan, had told his fellow Liberals, "This is the chance you and I have been waiting for in 'Yale,' just over 40 members of the Vernon and District Liberal Association nominated about one-third of their number for the office of president, and each one in turn declined the nomination. The meeting, the first the Liberal Association had held since last fall, took place in the Burns Hall on Tuesday night and was mainly for the purpose of organization.

For a variety of reasons, 14 members who had been nominated from the floor declined to stand for the office of president. After five of the Liberals had declined their nomination, Howard Thornton, president of the Yale Liberal Association, interjected to say he was "going to push this thing," and he nominated another person who also refused to stand. Three more of the members were nominated and three more were accepted.

Major David F. B. Kinloch, of the Coldstream, officer commanding "A" Squadron, 8th Reconnaissance Regiment, B.O.D.'s, has succeeded Lt. Col. Harry Angle, D.S.O., of Kelowna, as commanding officer of the regiment. With the change in command personnel, the regimental headquarters will be moved to this city from Kelowna.

Connected on Wednesday afternoon regarding the change of command, Major Kinloch said he could add nothing to the report as he had received no official word of the change up to that time. Lt. Col. Angle's term of command was terminated on August 31, but he will continue to serve with the reserve army in another capacity.

More complete details will be published when official confirmation has been received.

The Vernon News In Hands of Key Men In Canadian Enterprises

The October 30 issue of The Vernon News received wider than usual distribution. The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association secured an additional 250 copies of this newspaper for mailing to a wide list of industrial executives, advertising managers and agencies.

Purpose of the mailing was to acquaint men in key positions in Canadian business and industrial life with the type of weekly newspaper being published in the larger community centres of Canada.

Vernon thus secured a measure of valuable publicity in Ontario and Quebec.

"We Are the Dead"

Their memory will be honored at Remembrance Day services Tuesday morning when the plaques bearing their names will be dedicated at the Cenotaph, now a memorial to fallen heroes of two world wars.

City Eases School Board Problem of Building Site

Council Agrees To Give School District Title To Park Area If Legally Possible

The City Council showed no disposition to "hold up" the Vernon District School Board in acquiring sites for school additions in this city, when approached on the matter Monday night. P. S. Sterling, chairman of the board, asked Council reaction to the suggestion of giving the board title to one acre in MacDonald Park as site for a four-room Elementary School. The Council agreed to sell "for a nominal sum" a portion of the park, if it were in their power to do so.

15 Youngsters to Have Hallowe'en Sequel In Court

Although many people reported "all quiet on the Hallowe'en front," police report about 15 youths in the city will have a Hallowe'en aftermath in court some time next week. Corporal J. A. Knox, in charge of the city detachment, Provincial Police, on Tuesday informed The Vernon News reporter that he was taking action against some young people for the damage they did on Hallowe'en.

The vandalism took the form of breaking down fences, the shooting out of street lights—approximately 20—and other damage. The breaking down of fences seemed to be the most "popular" form of damage taken by the Hallowe'en hoodlums.

Store windows and other panes of glass within easy reach of the juveniles' soap received their usual coating of witticisms, although last year's most popular expression, "Kill-roy was here," was seen only a few times. Lipstick, on Hallowe'en night anyway, got a change of occupation and was used to scrawl expressions in hasty long-hand.

Parents Invited to School

Education week is being observed across Canada this week and in Vernon, parents are invited by A. O. Deane, government official who had been in contact with the school board, to visit Elementary School classrooms on Friday afternoon.

The P.T.A. will hold its next meeting in the Elementary School library on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Visual education in schools will be demonstrated by moving pictures.

'Mighty Pleased' Sugar Off Ration

"There's sure some pleased people around town," said Mrs. F. Rook, a local grocery clerk who is "mighty pleased" herself with the lifting of the sugar rationing, summed up the joyous end to the reign of ration books.

The store where she worked was deluged with phone calls Monday morning after the good news was announced Sunday and many people were in a state of glee, delirium asking for as much as 100 pounds of the coveted sugar.

The demand for sugar was so great that stores in Vernon had to not limit rations from five pounds to 50 pounds on the amount allowed to each customer.

One Hundred New Homes Valued at $500,000 Not Included In Figures

For the first time in the history of Vernon, the value of building permits in one year has gone over the total of a million dollars. This record for construction in the city was reached at the end of October when the aggregate value of building permits issued for the first ten months of 1947 reached $1,015,730. With construction continuing at a steady pace, the remaining two months of this year should make Vernon's mark in building values even more impressive.

New businesses, industries and many additions have contributed to the unsurpassed value of the building permits in this city. Permits in industrial classifications have been taken out to the value of over $280,000, while the value of permits for residences and additions has passed the $700,000 mark.

Stores, warehouses, fruit storage houses, garages, service stations, churches, tourist camps and other businesses and industries have been constructed this year.

Business Section Continually Expanding

The business section of the city is filling out and expanding in all directions from the main thoroughfare of Barnard Avenue and increased business facilities in the city are being built to serve the steadily growing population.

In the last few months, building permits taken out for business and industries include a $27,000 permit to F. Ryall and Sons for an auto camp at the top of Mission Hill. Vernon Meats and Locker Service Ltd. were issued with a permit to the value of $20,500 for their new premises on Mason Street. R. E. Poole took out a permit for $10,000 for a machine shop at the corner of Mara Avenue and Swift Street.

Another new undertaking is the First Baptist Church for which a building permit to the value of $16,350 was issued.

Other buildings that have been completed or are under construction are the artificial ice curling rink, the sporting goods store of L. A. Viel and Edward Field, Signal Brothers' Garage, the new packinghouse of the Unity Fruit Company Ltd., McColl Frontenac service station, the freight sheds of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., the Melrose Cafe, the soft drink bottling works of Paul Hornum, dry cleaning establishment of Arthur Roberts, and others in various additional categories.

In the building permit report submitted to the City Council for the month of October it is noted that "building is still being maintained at a high level despite the expected seasonal lull in construction."

In 1946, the previous record was amassed with a total of just over $700,000. The average value of building permits for each month this year is over $100,000, while in 1946 the average was just less than $65,000 up to this time. In eight of the 10 months this year the value of permits has gone over $100,000, while last year only two months went over that figure.

More and More Homes Put Lots at Premium

In this record year of construction, vacant lots in the residential blocks are being gradually occupied by new homes, and with the easing of building supplies, vacant lots in the city limits should become few and far between in a short space of time. New sub-divisions have been developed and the residential section of the city has filled out very noticeably in the 10 months of this year.

Over 200 building permits have been issued for the various types of construction this year. June had the largest number of permits issued, 70, while March set the biggest number of new dwellings when 21 permits were issued for that purpose.

With the easing of the supply of building materials, it is hard to predict what amount may be recorded by the end of this year and in 1948. But there are no signs at the moment of the construction boom lessening.

Indirect Method Elects Country School Trustees

Inspector A. S. Towell Outlines System Similar To Election U.S.A. President

With the approach of civic elections, the ratepayers in the rural portions of the Vernon School District are holding annual meetings and elections of representatives during the next week, prior to naming rural members to the school board.

Mental Hospital Not For Violently Insane

The mental hospital to be opened in Vernon does not mean that dangerously insane persons will be brought to this city, Mayor David Howie asked The Vernon News to emphasize that plans explained by A. O. Deane, government official who had been in contact with the school board, to visit Elementary School classrooms on Friday afternoon.

The P.T.A. will hold its next meeting in the Elementary School library on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Visual education in schools will be demonstrated by moving pictures.

This Week's Sports

Hunters Advance Reasons Why Pheasants Vanishing

This season, probably more than any other, the pheasant hunters have had more chance for discussions on the decreasing number of birds in the district and the pheasant situation as a whole. On every hand, reports are heard regarding the scarcity of the longtails, the difficulty in finding the number that are left and the advancement of theories for the solution to the problem.

The majority of opinion seems to be that the pheasants have been getting noticeably scarcer in the last few seasons and this year the hunters more than ever. Many are the shooters this season who have tramped a fair number of miles in rugged territory and not even seen a cock pheasant, let alone shoot one.

In the opening days of the season, the young and foolish "roosters" fall easy prey to the nimrod's scattergun, but now that only the experienced oldsters are left, it is the hunters turn to suffer.

The reasons given for the scarcity of roosters are numerous and varied. One is the fact that the population of the district is increasing at a steady rate and the natural cover on the hills, fields and ranges is being reduced through their cultivation of grain and by the running of grazing stock. The lack of protection for the rights of the farmers is increasingly being recognized as another big problem of game conservation.

Vermine and predators also are accused of taking a drastic toll of the pheasant young each year. One of the chief factors in the scarcity of birds in this district this year has been the continual over-shooting of a limited area. Other theorists have found that the use of DDT spray in orchards has taken a toll of birds.

Predators, Vermin, too. Charles Still, former game warden in the district and one of the leading predator hunters in this area, stated that the birds were much more scarce than in former years. This, he thought, was largely due to predators, vermin and the increasing population in the region. As the district gets more settled, the ranges are getting eaten off and during the nesting season the young have not an easy time and the predators can pick them off without trouble.

Mr. Still continued by saying that the farmers are getting indifferent in their efforts to save the birds because of the actions of a bunch of hunters who are not sportsmen. These people, who are usually outsiders, take their holidays of a week or more to do nothing but hunt, and they do not recognize the farmers' rights. Mr. Still did not think that farmers had been getting the protection they should. Farmers were getting "fed up" with the hunters. Many cases have been reported of the hunters going on to a farmer's posted property, shooting anywhere, breaking down fences, leaving gates open and, more seriously, poisoning livestock and even the houses.

Mr. Still also has observed quite a number of straight road hunters and he said, "Unless the true sportsman recognizes the problems of the farmers it will not be long before there is no shooting."

The coyote, whose numbers seem to be steadily on the upgrade, is another villain in the story. They prey on young birds and the bounty of $2 during the summer months is said not enough to warrant anyone going out to hunt these predators.

Robert Garrawell, Jr., an ardent member of the local Fish and Game Club, says he has hunted here since the pheasants were first introduced and he has noticed the birds getting scarcer each year. He had fair shooting the first few days but what birds are left have gone high up into the timber where they are almost impossible to reach. He said, "I do not know what quantities of birds are left, but they are definitely hard to find."

Henry Rotacker, another well known hunting figure, said the birds were "quite scarce" although there were "spots where they are quite numerous yet." He thought that the biggest cause of the shortage was the decreasing amount of

Summerland Men Organize Search and Rescue Party in Area

SUMMERLAND.—Summerland sportsmen who operate under the Summerland Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association are prepared to take an active part in any search which may be necessary in the hills surrounding Summerland for any party or parties who have become lost.

Such was the announcement emanating from the monthly meeting of this body whose main object is to conserve the fish, game and forests of this province, following a suggestion from H. J. "Bill" Barkwill.

Not only did the sportsmen promise full co-operation but have named three of their members as being men best capable of organizing a search party. These men have a thorough knowledge of the district as they have lived here for years and have hunted and hiked over all the area to the west, south and north.

The three men who will undertake the organizing are Channon Snow, Sandy Munn and Alf Johnston, with the assistance, of course, of the association executive, which is headed by President Bill Snow.

Good News on Instruction For Silver Star Ski Club

The Silver Star Ski Club will hold its annual general meeting in the Vernon Elementary School Library tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock. All interested parties are asked to attend to "hear the good news on ski instruction for this season." Movies on skiing will be shown at this meeting.

Unusually keen interest should be aroused in all followers of the snow-plowing art this winter as Peter Vajda, one of Canada's most accomplished plank artists, will give an instructor's ski course at Silver Star from December 6 to 14. This decision was made at the annual meeting of the Okanagan Ski Zone in Summerland on Saturday, October 11.

"This school should be the biggest boost ever given to skiing in the Okanagan," says Carl Wylie, president of the Silver Star Ski Club. Final plans for the school are almost completed and it is expected that the local group will send three instructors for training. The same number is expected to attend from each of the clubs in Kelowna, Penticton and Summerland, with the probability of one or two skiers from Oliver and Osoyoos.

These instructors will qualify for the "B" Class Instructors' Certificate and they will go back to their clubs to teach their fellow members. The technique that Mr. Vajda teaches is now standard throughout Western Canada.

All people who are thinking of taking up skiing this winter are urged to attend the meeting tonight, Thursday, as plans for instruction in the coming season will be fully discussed. Those beginning the sport can find out just what to expect in regard to instruction if they attend the meeting.

The chairman of the meeting will be Mr. Wylie and the election of officers for the coming season will take place. Members of various committees will present their reports to the gathering.

On Sunday about eight members of the Club made a trip to Silver Star to prepare the cabin and finish other work for the school in December. Ray Hunt, Jim Harvey and Kenny McLachlan took along their skis on the jaunt and it is reported that they did a good job of missing stumps and other outcropping obstacles on six to eight inches of snow.

The party did not go as far as the lookout, where there apparently is a good amount of snow. The depth of the snow at the summit now is estimated at about two feet.

Good Breeding Year for Ducks, States Authority

A successful breeding season has checked the downward trend in the duck population but the increment is not sufficient to make any substantial gain over last year, say authorities of Ducks Unlimited in Canada.

Ducks Unlimited's duck population estimates indicate that Manitoba has 25 percent fewer ducks than last year; Saskatchewan about 25 percent more and Alberta about 15 percent more; the Northwest Territories about 20 percent less.

As the heaviest nesting density and success was in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the overall results works out to a slight gain over last year.

The hazardous nature of the territory where the best production of surface feeding ducks came from should be emphasized. It was tough and go several times and only timely rains saved the situation.

As it is, comparatively speaking, the duck population in Alberta is satisfactory; there are nearly as many ducks in Alberta as there are in the other two provinces combined. Saskatchewan has heavy production in the heavy agricultural area, but the northern agricultural area was dry and some drought loss occurred. Northern

Kamloops Wants Four-Team City Hockey Circuit

KAMLOOPS.—A call has been issued to senior hockey players to make themselves known so that preliminary arrangements can be made for the formation of a city hockey league and of a team to represent Kamloops in the proposed Mainline Hockey League.

It is expected that at least a four-team city league will be formed, including two squads from Kamloops, one from North Kamloops and one from Tranquille. From the personnel of these teams will be selected the players who will represent Kamloops in the Mainline Hockey League.

The call to senior puckchasers to register now was issued at a meeting of the Kamloops Hockey Club's executive committee recently.

The gathering also made preliminary arrangements for a membership drive and placed this campaign in the hands of its finance committee, composed of M. C. Cranston, chairman, Doug F. Burden and Ted Jardine.

A Tranquille hockey team has been organized and will be entered in Kamloops City Hockey League. It is reported from the sanatorium. An old-fashioned freewill work bee by hockey and skating enthusiasts last week did much to prepare the Exhibition Arena for the installation of refrigeration equipment of the Kamloops and District Memorial Recreational Centre Society's temporary artificial ice rink.

The special pipe for the refrigerating system reached the city recently and the 50-horsepower motor. The rest of the machinery is en route from Montreal.

As soon as the preparatory work is completed and the equipment all in place, a representative of Linde Canadian Refrigeration Ltd. will make the installation. And shortly thereafter Kamloops will have—thanks to the Memorial Centre Society with the aid of City Council and others—a full-sized indoor artificial ice rink.

Surface water conditions are generally good in all three provinces except about 20,000 square miles of the northern agricultural area (south-central) of Saskatchewan and the Peace River district in Alberta.

Migration of ducks and geese is now under way and the birds are building up in concentrations on the prairies where Mallards, Pintails and Canada Geese particularly are feeding on grain fields and acquiring fat and flavor.

Sunday Afternoon Set for Start of Hockey Practices

The first hockey activity of the season will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday in the arena. John Loudon, secretary of the V.A.H.A., informed The Vernon News on Wednesday that a hockey practice for the Senior "A" class will be held at that time and anyone who is interested is requested to attend. The number of players attending this first ice session will have much to do with the formation of future plans for the hockey season.

Although not much will be done in the way of actual practice, this session is very important and all hockeyists of the Senior, (formerly Intermediate) class are asked to attend.

Fined for Letting Minor Carry Firearms Without Supervision

In District Police Court before Stipendiary Magistrate William Morley on Tuesday morning, Fred Koshman pleaded guilty to a charge of permitting his son, who was the holder of a minor's firearms license, to carry firearms when not under the supervision of an adult. The father was released on suspended sentence of one month with the payment of $2.50 costs.

The regulations state that the holder of a minor's firearms license must be accompanied by the holder of an adult firearms license when carrying firearms. The age limit for a minor is 18 years.

Explains B.C. Tree Fruits To Querulous Farm Group

OSOYOOS.—"The prices set on your products are determined to an extent with the view of selling the fruit by the box instead of by the pound," explained Albert Miller, governor of B.C. Tree Fruits in answer to a question as to the reason of the lowered price on produce to the grower.

Upon invitation of the local Farmers' Union, Mr. Miller addressed a large audience of growers in the Community Hall on October 20, and explained in some detail why Tree Fruits was set up and what it is doing. He emphasized that B.C. Tree Fruits was in the employ of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board in the capacity of a selling agent, was governed by the B.C.F.G.A., and owned and controlled by the growers. It obtained its capital for functioning by a levy on every box of fruit and vegetables and at the end of the season repaid what money had not been spent.

Claiming that fruit and vegetables were selling at a higher price on the consumers' market this year than in 1945, but that the returns to the growers were lower in the corresponding period, local members of the Farmers' Union, determined to get an explanation. Referring to this, "justified heavy culling and the wide spread between the consumers' and the producers' prices," were the reasons why there was dissatisfaction, the meeting closed.

It was explained how B.C. Tree Fruits dealt through brokers' concerns in the cities, thus supervising selling by watching the markets and controlling supply, doing away with the unjustified claims by examining fruit, and keeping an eye on the price. Figures were presented, among them on a pack of tomatoes: price to the grower, 2¢; freight 2¢; icing, 6¢; marketing board levy, 5¢; and Tree Fruits levy, 3¢; making the total cost of this pack, laid down at Regina, $2.30. Retailing prices and delivery to smaller points were added, and the selling price derived.

At this point of the address, questions and accusations were being made. Some growers present contended that the figures were incorrect insofar that the retail price was higher and in some instances fruit and vegetables were not available for a demanding market. J. Klein, Jr., president of the Farmers' Union and the chairman of the meeting, intervened with a stern appeal for order.

It was maintained by some present, in reply to Mr. Miller's statement, that prices were subject to a strong competition from imports across the line, that the dump duty imposed in Canada was too low, and it was further charged that in many cases this competition was imaginary.

Asked how it was possible for American produce to be thrown on the Canadian market at a lower price, Mr. Miller explained that large acreages were in a position to sell for a smaller margin of profit per box and still show a profit in the total sales.

Packing Troubles
Switching to packing problems, it was pointed out that the government inspector was responsible for grades, and all orders issued by Tree Fruits regarding packing were sanctioned by the Marketing Board and it was this latter board that had jurisdiction over "stop-pick."

The matter of culling was high-

Salmon Arm May Get Air Service

SALMON ARM.—The Chamber of Commerce will endorse the application of David Harrington for a charter to operate an unscheduled air service based at Salmon Arm. This was decided at the Chamber's last meeting when Mr. Harrington made the request for support in his application.

D. L. Murchison, chairman of the aviation committee, outlined the plans for the service and the future requirements in the nature of landing strip, etc. At first the plane now operated by Mr. Harrington will use pontoons but it is hoped to have a landing strip constructed. A site at Larch Hill is available large enough for the present plane and permission to use the land has been promised.

The meeting favored the use of a landing strip but was not prepared to handicap any future development in air service by the construction of a strip that would prove too small. It was contended that any site chosen should be located so that the strip could be enlarged to meet modern requirements. The matter of the development of the Larch Hill site was referred back to the Aviation Committee for further investigation.

Fireman Tells Of Train Wreck At Kamloops Inquest

KAMLOOPS.—"I guess I was pretty lucky to get out," James Leslie Hallmark, C.N.R. locomotive fireman, told a coroner's jury last week from his bed in Royal Inland Hospital. He was testifying at the adjourned inquest into the death of Engineer F. A. Brookall, brakeman George W. Shirley, and the three hockey-playing Indian lads, all of whom were killed when C.N.R. freight train No. 403 was wrecked by an 18-inch deep clay slide at Anglesey, just west of Walthachin, September 27.

Even after nearly a month of treatment at Lady Minto Hospital at Ashcroft and in Royal Inland, Mr. Hallmark still is confined to his bed. He was burned from neck to boot-tops in the accident.

Mr. Hallmark told the coroner, Dr. J. S. Burns, and the jury that he saw the slide when the engine was about three pole-lengths away. He doubted the other crewmen saw it, since they were on the right-hand side of the cab.

"Soak her! Soak her!" I yelled to Brookall; and he looked up at it to say "What's the matter?" You could feel the tiles rocking back and forth I started for the window.

"That's the last thing I remember. I don't remember what hit me. I don't really know how I got out or anything. I don't know how I was burned or where the slide came from."

"I believe the conductor pulled me out of the river. I was cooling myself off. I guess," Mr. Hallmark grinned.

None could have stopped the 3,600-ton freight within the three pole-lengths of warning, Mr. Hallmark told the jury. He recalled that in his experience a freight going at 20 miles per hour "couldn't stop within 15 pole lengths" and it "didn't have anything like" the tonnage of No. 403.

Conductor Aubrey Griffiths testified that the train was travelling at about 30 miles an hour when an emergency application of the brakes was made from the engine. "We hit the slide with the brakes on," he declared.

"I got out and looked ahead," he said. "I could see cars piling up. I at once headed for the wreckage. Then I heard somebody calling, 'Help.' I found Hallmark beside the river."

After sending Mr. Hallmark to the caboose, he went to the engine and found Mr. Brookall lying on his back beside the firebox. He was on the engineer's side. Mr. Shirley was underneath, three or four feet below the engine. Both were dead.

He also found another body "hanging on to the grabiron on the side of a boxcar."

He then flagged down a truck passing on the Trans-Canada Highway and sent Mr. Hallmark to Ashcroft for medical attention. Brakeman W. G. Watkins reported that while Conductor Griffiths investigated the wreckage, he notified the dispatcher at Kamloops of the accident, then he went to the head-end, meeting Mr. Griffiths and Mr. Hallmark on their way back. His findings in the engine concurred with those of Mr. Griffiths.

Terrible Wreckage
Constable T. B. Marsh of Ashcroft detachment, B.C. Police, testified that he and Constable H. O. Haugland arrived at the scene about two hours after the accident. The train was such a tangle of wreckage it was impossible to take measurements.

He found the two bodies in the engine and the third clinging to the side of a boxcar. The latter was partly buried in the dirt. While it was being dug out, the men came across the bodies of the two other Indian lads. Both had been completely buried in the sand.

Const. Haugland telephoned their findings to B.C. Police headquarters at Kamloops and as a result, S/C A. E. Gunn and Const. George D. Heatley came to the wreck early in the afternoon.

Massive third-degree burns on the face, trunk, arms and legs killed Mr. Brookall and Mr. Shirley, Dr. P. S. Perrett told the coroner's court. Contributing, but not the cause of death, were other injuries. Mr. Brookall's pelvis was fractured, and there were lacerations on the elbow and ankle. Mr. Shirley's skull had been shattered by a compound fracture. In Dr. Perrett's opinion, it is likely both men died instantly.

Decapitated
Dr. R. J. Alexander, department of Indian Affairs physician, said the three Indian lads, Francis Aleo, Leonard Major, and Ambrose Alexander, also died quickly. Aleo was practically decapitated and there had been complete eversion of the abdominal cavity. Major's skull was fractured, as were both legs and his left arm, and there was a large untear wound over the left groin. Alexander's right arm was torn off, the left arm and both legs were fractured. In addition, all had multiple burns.

The jury men filed verdicts of "accidental death" declaring that Mr. Brookall and Mr. Shirley died while on duty and the Indian lads while trespassing on the railroad. Signing the verdict were J. A. Beaton (foreman), M. L. Murphy, R. Burns, Clayton Gillet, Ted Jardine, J. A. Ingram and J. Ratcliffe.

None of the testimony at the inquest answered the question of how the three teen-aged lads got aboard the train. Mr. Hallmark testified that while the train was stopped at Savona so the engine could take on water, he hadn't noticed anyone on the tender or the leading boxcars. The boys sneaked away from Kamloops Indian Residential School on September 24, and were the objects of a wide-spread search by school officials and police. It had been thought they boarded the train at Savona, where the night before three Indian lads had been reported to have been seen and where until long

Vernon Lions Club Sponsors Three New Valley Groups

Armstrong Club First of Three to Receive Charter

ARMSTRONG, Nov. 3.—Armstrong branch Lions International formally received its charter and official incorporation into the great service club on October 29 at a colorful banquet and ceremony held in Armstrong Recreation Hall. It was a momentous event for the group of local men who have banded together for community service and with the good wishes of other clubs that were in attendance as well as those that sent congratulatory messages an auspicious start has been made.

International Flavor
The order of events took on an international flavor—as it should—when Toastmaster Fred Little, of Vernon, called the gathering to the banquet table. Canada's national anthem, "O Canada," was followed by the singing of the United States "America." Rev. A. B. Sharples gave the invocation.

The banquet that followed was a sumptuous spread and drew much favorable comment from the visiting Lions and ladies. The United Church W.A. spared nothing to set the banquet table.

During the banquet portion of the program, Tail Twisters Jack Trent and Blake Merrick, of Vernon, and Armstrong's Tail Twister, Jack Potchecary, kept a continual round of the tables extracting the traditional fines from members. They set a jovial mood.

Armstrong members had decorated the big auditorium in the purple and gold colors of Lions, and a large sign on the stage drop with the Lions crest and lettered "Liberty, Intelligence and Our Nation's Safety," stood out in bold relief. Attractive printed programs were in front of each plate.

Toasts

A sing-song, with Ronald Heal presiding at the piano, and a cornet duet by Lions Bill Tucker and Jim Jamieson entertained the assembly. Toastmaster Fred Little proposed toasts to the King and the President of the United States. President Len Wood in proposing the toast to the visitors, said it was a great honor to be first president of the local club, and welcomed visitors from so far away, particularly extending a welcome to distinguished guests from the State of Washington.

In replying for the visitors, Ken McKenzie, of Vancouver Central Lions Club, said he was sure he expressed the sentiments of all in wishing the new club success. He extended a cordial invitation to visit Vancouver Central when at the Coast.

Mayor Game Welcomes Lions
Mayor G. W. Game, in his address of welcome from the City of Armstrong, expressed the pleasure it gave him to welcome all visitors, and particularly District Governor Robert Guthrie of Wapato, Wash. He complimented the Lions on their interest in and maintenance of hospitals and so-lariums for crippled children. The establishment of a branch of Lions International in Armstrong was a welcome addition to community organizations. Mayor Game concluded by saying, "I feel sure that they can be depended upon to maintain that public service."

Zone Chairman Bill MacKenzie, Vernon, replied to the Mayor's welcome. He deemed it a privilege to reply to Mayor Game's sincere address. He was sure that organization of Lions in Armstrong would be of great benefit to the district. Armstrong club had already taken up some activities.

Vernon Lions Set Record Sponsoring Three Groups

The Vernon Lions Club, just over two years old, has set a record for the 130 odd Lions Clubs in the district covering the Okanagan Valley and Northern Washington, by sponsoring the organization of three new clubs at one time. Their efforts culminated during the past two weeks as charter nights were held for the three new clubs in Armstrong, Enderby and Lumby.

Vernon Lions came back from the convention in Victoria last June enthused to spread the work of their service club. Sparked by William MacKenzie, zone chairman, and first president of Vernon Lions, together with Frank Baldock, immediate past president, the local members worked for four months to get groups going in the three other North Okanagan centres.

During recent charter nights, high tribute was paid the local Lions by Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Wash., District Governor, who presented charters to the new clubs.

Lions District Governor

Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Wash., district governor of Lions Clubs in international area 18-D, presented charters to clubs Armstrong, Enderby and Lumby at special celebrations in these centres during the past ten days.

Lions Zone Chairman

William MacKenzie, of Vernon, chairman of zone D-1, covering Lions clubs in the Okanagan Valley and northern Washington, figured in recent charter nights of clubs at Armstrong, Enderby and Lumby.

Memorable Event As First Lumby Service Club Away

LUMBY, Nov. 4.—Lumby Lions Club Charter Night will long be remembered as an outstanding event for this town. Over 150 assembled Lions and guests sat down to a banquet in the beautifully decorated Community Hall, and for two hours thrilled to the grand proceedings which saw the Lumby Lions Club receive its international charter and become a full-fledged member of this world organization. A dance brought the evening to a close.

Toastmaster Frank Baldock, of Vernon, performed his duties well throughout the evening. He first called on Magistrate H. C. Catt, who gave the address of welcome. Mr. Catt, with his 41 years of residence in Lumby, had seen many clubs started and the good work that they had done. This was the first time that a service club had been formed, by a group of men new to Lumby. Mr. Catt told a little story about the "naked truth" to illustrate that some of the older folks did not see the need, which was very plain, of a service club. The story was very much enjoyed and he wished the visitors and club the best success.

Zone Chairman Bill MacKenzie, of the Vernon club replied, thanking Mr. Catt, Mr. MacKenzie spoke on behalf of all the visiting Lions from B.C. points and from Washington State. He said that success lay ahead for the Lumby club from an observation of the sound beginning. Mr. MacKenzie also thanked the Catholic Women's League for their excellent banquet and decorating arrangements. The gathering was very appreciative of this point.

Inspirational Address
Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Wash., was next introduced to the meeting. He called upon Henry Backstrom, Arlington, Wash., executive governor, to address the meeting. Mr. Backstrom delivered a fine address on Lionism. He expressed his thanks to the Lumby club. He pointed out that the scenery on the way up was second to none. Saying that our roads are very accessible and that good accommodation is to be had, he expressed the opinion that we should advertise these natural beauties so that more could see them.

He likened Lionism in its world-wide clubs to the atom, both of which, when broken into many particles, had become a great force. He emphasized that Lionism was founded on the premise of service. "A movement in which application of spiritual influence was applied to the man in the street." Although individuals were prone to confine their thoughts to their own sphere, they must overcome this in the modern world of close intercourse and interdependence.

"Success depends on our willingness to work," continued Mr. Backstrom. "Keep yourselves steamed up. See that the club is not lagging behind but

Big International Group Enjoys Enderby Ceremony

ENDERBY, Nov. 4.—Representatives from eleven Lions Clubs in the Valley and from across the border, gathered in the Enderby Drill Hall on Monday evening to witness the presentation of the charter to the recently organized Enderby Lions Club.

Every effort was put forth to make the evening a success. A good deal of credit is due the president, Alvin Woods, and George McLeod who, with the co-operation of other members, made the evening one of the most successful held locally in some time.

Upon entering the hall, the 150 members, wives and visitors were greeted by an attractive Lions emblem of gold and purple, above which hung the flag. From this emblem were entwined gold and purple streamers, and throughout the hall, evergreen lent a festive note.

Memorable Occasion
Guests gathered at attractive tables centered with vases of yellow chrysanthemums and groups of shiny, red apples. Mr. Woods called the group to order and expressed his delight in having the opportunity of presiding at such a memorable occasion.

After an "International Sing-Song," invocation was said by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie before the guests sat down to supper.

In his welcome, Mr. Woods said, "The Lions have already done a good deal of community work since their recent organizing, and it is our intention to continue this service in a much stronger measure. We know we will have the support of the City Council and the entire community behind us, and we expect to do everything in our power to justify this support."

Mr. Woods went on to say how pleased he was to have so many representatives present from the neighboring Lions clubs, as well as Zone Chairman Bill MacKenzie, of Vernon; Executive Governor Henry G. Backstrom, of Arlington, Wash.; District Governor Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Wash., and Al Tillman, of Soap Lake, Wash.

Vernon Lions Proud
Mayor H. Logan was then called upon to give an address of welcome from the City of Enderby, which was responded to by Mr. MacKenzie. Mr. MacKenzie said the Vernon Lions Club had taken pride in sponsoring the Enderby group.

Mr. Woods then introduced Mr. Tillman as toastmaster. The latter welcomed guests from Kamloops, Kelowna, Armstrong, Lumby, Vernon and, in the State of Washington, Cashmere, Moses Lake, Wapato, Soap Lake and Arlington.

Responses were given by F. Ritchie, M.L.A., of Salmon Arm; Ivor Solly, president of Enderby Board of Trade, and Leon Irvine, president of Vernon Lions Club.

During the dinner, local tail twister W. Drysdale kept the club's "pot boiling" with fines from the guests. He was assisted by Joe Furiak, tail twister of the Kamloops club.

A short program included an acrobatic display by Miss Teena Skelly; vocal duet by Miss McAmmond and Miss Pritchard, accompanied by Mrs. McAmmond on the piano; a military tap dance by club. He congratulated Mr. Woods, local president, and expressed the hope that this club would continue serving the community while upholding the high ideals for which the name "Lions" is known.

Many Presentations
The climax of an enjoyable evening came when Robert Guthrie, district governor of Area 18-D, presented the charter of the club to the local president. In so doing, he told the members that they should feel proud. It was their duty to build up, not to tear down.

"With you rests a sacred duty to your community," he said. He spoke well of the service that had already been rendered by the club during their short organizing period and called upon the members to always keep before them the words of the motto.

"All my good wishes go to you Lion members with the presentation of this charter," said Mr. Guthrie.

Mr. Woods, on behalf of the members, accepted the charter and expressed the strong belief that the good work of the local Lions Club would continue to flourish in Enderby.

The American flag was then presented to the club as a gift of the Moses Lake club, and the Canadian flag was presented as a gift of the Kelowna Lions.

Vernon Lions were congratulated as the sponsors of the local organization. Mr. Irvine presented the Enderby club with the gong and gavel. Mr. Guthrie presented the president's pin to Mr. Woods on behalf of the Chelan, Wash. club. The secretary's pin was presented to Pat Farmer by Alex Long, Kamloops representative, as a gift from the Walla Walla club.

Art McPherson, of Cashmere, for Quincy, Wash., presented the tail twister's cup to Mr. Drysdale. The charter frame was presented by Mr. Guthrie for the Tillam, Wash. club.

Big Guns Will Open Fire In By-Election Attack

W. A. C. Bennett Will Run—

Really "Progressive" Says Yale Conservative Choice

W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A., Kelowna merchant, who was the unanimous choice of Yale Progressive Conservatives in the forthcoming federal by-election in this constituency, places strong emphasis on the "progressive" features of his party's platform.

Addressing the packed gathering of party supporters in Penticton's I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday night after he had been named the nomination without a dissenting voice, Mr. Bennett outlined features of his platform ranging from the way from a federal marketing act to $50 a month minimum for old age pensioners. In thanking the meeting for the nomination and the ovation that accompanied it, Mr. Bennett declared that he had agreed to run for two reasons only—the strong leadership offered by John Bracken and the party's platform as adopted at the 1942 Winnipeg convention.

"Let no one say to us that we are a party of reaction because we are the most progressive party in Canada," he declared—a statement that was the keynote of all his later remarks.

Canadian agriculture undoubtedly will meet difficult times in the future and that is the period when a true agricultural leader like John Bracken will be urgently required at Ottawa, he said. The federal marketing act, which "King took off the books" must be replaced in the statutes of the Dominion if agriculture is to secure its fair share of recognition.

The party stands for extension of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act to British Columbia, he said. The failure to secure the benefits of this legislation are today hindering development of Grand Forks, Penticton, Vernon, and other points. The mission to Ottawa last year of two valley men in an endeavor to have the act extended by the government was Mr. Bennett's responsibility, he claimed.

His Platform
In a rapid-fire review of his views and platform, Mr. Bennett made the following points:
"Canada's need for United States dollars is a pressing problem and yet the Dominion government does little to encourage the tourist trade, a prime source of exchange. To stimulate this traffic modern roads are urgently required. Mr. Bennett pledged his full efforts towards having the Dominion participate with the provinces in highway construction. In the U.S., he pointed out, the federal government pays 50 percent of the outlays.

In British Columbia old age pensions paid are equal to the highest in all Canada. "The only province which pays an equal amount is the Progressive Conservative government of Ontario," Saskatchewan, it should be noted, had refused to grant recent increases in concert with the Dominion. "I believe that $40 isn't enough. I believe that pensions should be on a contributory basis, but at least $50 should be paid to those in receipt," he declared.

The convention in Penticton was a Bennett convention all the way. No other names were suggested for the nomination to succeed the Hon. Groote Stirling, who resigned recently. Presiding was E. C. Weddell, of Kelowna. After opening the meeting, he called to the platform the national leader, John Bracken, and Mrs. Bracken, Col. C. I. Merritt, V.O., M.P., for Vancouver-Burrard; Howard Green, M.P., for Vancouver South; and Mrs. Richard Stirling, daughter of Groote Stirling. The occasion for the convention, Mr. Weddell declared, was a sad one—to pick a successor to "that loyal, capable, veteran member, Hon. Groote Stirling. He has a most wonderful record in this since 1924 he has won seven consecutive elections."

Mr. Weddell briefly reviewed highlights of the campaigns in Yale. Statistics of the successive votes indicated that the party would have a stiff fight on its hands. In 1924 the total number of eligible voters was about 12,000; in the last election it was over 24,000 and the new list should contain some 5,000 new names. In the 1945 contest the Conservatives secured 40 percent of the vote in Yale, the C.C.F. 22 percent and the Liberals 10 percent.

"If the Liberals took away 2,000 votes from us they would still not win, on the basis of the 1945 figures, but the danger is that the C.C.F. would slip in," he pointed out. New officers for the riding association were selected. Named as honorary president was Mr. Bracken, and as vice-president, Hon. Groote Stirling. Selection of a pro-nomination of a candidate following withdrawal of J. D. Mynn, of Penticton. Mr. Weddell was returned for a further period, with J. A. Young, Penticton, as vice-president. "The new secretary-treasurer is Nigel Pooley, of Kelowna. In accepting, Mr. Pooley declared: 'I think this is going to be an extremely tough election and I'll give it everything I've got.' The executive committee complies the presidents and secretaries of the associations in the four provincial ridings of North and South Okanagan, Similkameen, and Grand Forks.

W. A. C. BENNETT, M.L.A.

A Naramata grower, J. A. Noyes, nominated Mr. Bennett as "the only man who can carry Yale riding for the Progressive Conservatives. It's going to be a tough fight, as Mr. Pooley says," he declared. Tom Love, M.L.A., Grand Forks, and H. W. Galbraith, Vernon, moved and seconded that the nomination of Mr. Bennett be made unanimous.

Brains For Health
True happiness, say Ottawa health authorities, calls for more than mere brawn. Brain, too, must be employed. The Department of National Health and Welfare, in a statement, comments on the inter-relationship of physical and mental health. No matter how muscular or strong a person, such attributes of mind as self-control and intelligent direction into acceptable activity are required to ensure true well being.

Liberal Speakers Differ In Opinion of Coalition

Opposing views on the B.C. Coalition government were expressed by two Liberal speakers at the Vernon Liberal Association meeting in Vernon on Tuesday night. C. W. Morrow, M.L.A., for the North Okanagan, said that the province for the past five or six years "has had one of the finest governments it has ever had." Arthur Lang, of Vancouver, president of the Young Liberal Association of B.C., said the Coalition was built on fear and "you cannot build anything on a foundation of fear."

Mr. Morrow said it was his belief that Coalition had given British Columbia stable government at the time in 1941, two days after Pearl Harbor, when no party had a majority in the legislature.

He said the Liberals would have been subject to criticism if they had risked another general election to keep themselves in power. "Perhaps we did dwarf our chances as Liberals, but what we did do is something much better," he said.

The speaker stated, "We are at the crossroads today and what are we going to do? He thought a compromise could be effected if it was necessary in the matter of choosing a leader. "If we throw out Coalition immediately, but personally, I do not believe Coalition will be thrown over."

"I repeat that in 1941 it was either a Liberal government at any price with a possible election, or fusion with another party."

Need Strong Man
"We have to pick a man we are sure can win," said Mr. Morrow, in reference to the Liberal candidate for the Yale federal by-election. He added that the first choice, if a man was available and willing to run, would be a man high in the fruit industry who had the respect of the people and much ability. "The thing to do is to organize and get ready for the fight that is coming. We have got to get the people stirred up. This is the chance you and I have been waiting for in Yale. Don't pussyfoot around and get someone to run who will not be elected."

Two Ideologies Topic of Party Leader in City

Honoring John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, a non-political luncheon was held in the National Hotel at noon on Friday last. Some 25 business men, civic leaders and service clubs headed the group, as well as prominent local Conservatives. Presiding was J. H. Watkin, president of the North Okanagan Progressive Conservative Association.

Canadians live in challenging times, the most challenging and stimulating in the nation's history, Mr. Bracken said. The world is divided by the clash of two ideologies, Christian democracy and Communistic, materialistic dictatorship. In this clash are the seeds of war, but war will not necessarily come, Mr. Bracken declared. Some of his experiences while in New York last year attending sessions of the United Nations General Assembly as a Canadian delegate. There, week after week, delegates groped with the problems of setting the world on a peaceful course and time after time action was blocked by the Russian representatives.

Communist Challenge
Canada itself is confronted with the challenge of Communism. This foreign ideology, under which members believe in a loyalty closer than their loyalty to their country, is making inroads, striving especially for control of labor union.

On the topic of Commonwealth relationships, Mr. Bracken expressed the view that the aid Canada should not have been in the form of loans. "Those loans might well have been regarded as gifts and charged to the cost of the war," he remarked.

The countries of Western Europe, and especially Britain, have traditionally been Canada's best customers. "When your best customer becomes so poor that she cannot buy from you, you must think of ways to aid her so that in the future she will again take your products."

Mr. Bracken was introduced by H. W. Galbraith and thanked by John A. Bishop, T. R. Bulman introduced Howard Green, M.P., for Vancouver-South, who spoke briefly.

Bracken Promises Market Act If Conservatives In

"If and when Canada gets a good government and I am Prime Minister of that good government, you will have enacted a Natural Products Marketing Act on a Dominion-wide basis."

This was the promise made to the Okanagan Valley by John Bracken, the national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, in addressing the Yale nominating convention in Penticton Saturday night. Mr. Bracken was the last of a battery of speakers who addressed the meeting, which selected W. A. C. Bennett, of Kelowna, to be party standard bearer in the Yale federal by-election.

Mr. Bracken charged that the first Dominion Natural Products Marketing Act had been referred by the King government to the Supreme Court "in a manner that invited the Supreme Court to declare it ultra vires."

Canadian agriculture undoubtedly will face difficult times in the future, he declared. Producers will then require the protection of a natural products marketing act and under the present administration they are without one.

Dealing further with agriculture, Mr. Bracken pledged his party to extension to all provinces, including B.C., the full provisions of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. "That kind of legislation should apply to the whole Dominion."

"Sterling in character as well as Stirling in name"—that was Mr. Bracken's tribute to the late member for Yale, Hon. Groote Stirling, who recently resigned his seat because of ill health. "It was a measure of the man's character for him to say that as he could no longer do the work demanded he could no longer continue to accept the emoluments of office."

The five British Columbia members sent to Ottawa were the highest calibre of any members from all other provinces, Mr. Bracken declared in making a strong plea for the election of Mr. Bennett.

The Progressive Conservative party's stand on four issues were outlined by Mr. Bracken.

1. The development of the country and its resources.
2. The protection of the country's producers from unfair outside competition, "and before and during the shipping of crops."

3. Marketing of natural products.
4. The decentralization of industry.

Blistering Address
Colonel C. C. I. Merritt, V.C., introduced as a grandson of Sir Charles Tupper, delivered a blistering political address that might well have featured the politics of his grandfather's time. From the audience reaction it seemed to have little place today.

The C.C.F. he branded as the party which "tells the large lie" in charging that M. J. Coldwell, M.P., now touring B.C. and advocating the replacement of price controls, does so not from wishing to keep prices down but from wanting to pave the way for a socialist state. "Right now Coldwell is going throughout this province demanding the return of price controls," he is not saying that because he sincerely wishes lower prices but because price control will mean socialism."

Party of Betrayal
The Liberals Col. Merritt branded as being the party "of the big betrayal." They were elected in

JOHN BRACKEN

1945 on a platform of free enterprise. "The Canadian people believed they were going to untie the wartime bureaucracy, but they haven't done that. Instead, they are pressing on with bureaucratic legislation and semi-socialism."

A hard-hitting presentation of the Conservative viewpoint featured the address of Howard Green. He pointed out that the interests of the Okanagan Valley coincided almost exactly with the national policy of the party, especially on the issue of protection.

supposing that the poundkeeper had handled the dog before. Asked by Mayor Howie what they could say about the incident, one youth replied, "Just that we found the dog there."

"That is private ground down there. What were you doing on it?" asked Alderman Fred Harwood.

There was no reply.

W. A. Middleton, appearing with Miss Bishop, asked that Mr. Hunter give his report on the incident. Mayor Howie said that had already been secured by Mr. deWolf and placed before the Council in a letter which Mayor Howie read aloud.

When the Council was agreed that there was no charge against the poundkeeper, Alderman E. B. Cousins said, "Then I move that we have no more to do with it. We cannot do any more to ease the pain of the dog."

Miss Bishop said she had discussed with Dr. W. L. Parkhill, veterinary surgeon, means of destroying animals by a hammer blow on the head, and she quoted him as saying, "Of all the outlandish ways to kill a dog." Veterinarians used chloroform or injections.

"That is the way they killed steers in the Old Country" (by a blow on the head), said Mayor David Howie.

Alderman T. R. B. Adams suggested such had been so widely practised for so long a time it must be an accepted method, but he asked Miss Bishop for recommendations from the S.P.C.A.

She suggested a veterinarian go down once or twice a week when dogs were to be destroyed.

"If we are going to have to hire a 'vet' every time to go down and do it, I think we're running into too much money," said Alderman Harwood.

Mr. Hunter said that an average of two dogs a week were destroyed.

Mayor Howie said he was convinced the poundkeeper had acted "with every human intent" and that the Council would consider if there were any more humane way to dispose of the dogs than by a hammer blow on the head.

City Eases

time for the planned building to take place.

Consequently, discussion on Monday night centred on the request for the Elementary School site in Macdonald Park.

"I can't see parting with the deeds," said Alderman Fred Harwood. "If this is a 50-50 proposition (the province pays half the cost, the school district half) it is just as fair that the city hold title as the government. I don't think it is practical to part with the deeds to that property."

"The trouble is, you fellows start out with four rooms and the first thing you know you are spread over half the park," Alderman D. D. Harris said to Mr. Sterling.

"I quite agree," replied Mr. Sterling.

Sharing Costs

Alderman Harwood pointed out that Vernon citizens pay 51 per cent of the half share borne by the school district, but it was further explained that the city taxpayers also paid a similar portion of the costs of schools in the rural areas covered by the school district. This takes in Coldstream, Lavington, Lumby and other unorganized territory.

"I am quite willing we pass on part of the park that faces Lorne Street, providing you don't want to take over the whole park," said Alderman Harwood.

"It is obvious the school board cannot go ahead till they have an assurance they will have the site. I move that they have the assurance now," said Alderman E. B. Cousins.

At this point Mr. Lindsay advised the Council to determine if the city had the power to sell any part of the park. Later in the evening Mr. Morrow told the Council he did not think there were any restrictions and the Council agreed it should be conveyed to the school district.

Before then, Alderman T. R. B. Adams said, "Until ownership of school property is centralized into law—as presumably it will be—the city should not hand over title. At the moment I feel we should retain the property."

When Alderman Cousins moved that the City arrange transfer of the land to the school district, he also recommended that the city pass the necessary bylaw indicating the remainder of the area as a park.

Damage in Park

Alderman Harris concluded the discussion by advising Mr. Sterling of the effect that High School students had kept off the park grounds because of damage to flower beds during the past season.

Mr. Sterling said he appreciated the position taken by the Park Board, but he pointed out that with 600 students attending a school intended for 600, and with the shift system where pupils with "spare" periods had to be out and away from the school, that it was impossible to confine them satisfactorily or give the desired supervision under present conditions.

Honor District's Fallen Heroes On Remembrance Day

Loving memories will be rekindled in minds of parents, sisters, brothers, relatives and friends the Vernon Cenotaph on Remembrance Day as citizens gather to pay tribute to the honored memory of the heroic dead of two world wars. Special significance will be given to the services by the dedication of the plaques bearing names of those fallen heroes of World War II, and also the dedication of the new memorial arch to the Cenotaph.

The Remembrance Day services will begin with a parade to the Cenotaph, with the units forming at the Legion Centre at 10:20 a.m. The parade will be led by the Kildonan Pipe Band, followed by the Vernon branch, Canadian Legion; "A" Squadron, B.C. Reconnaissance Regiment, B.C. Dragoons; the Vernon City Band, Women's Auxiliary, Canadian Legion; Army and Air Force Cadets, Boy Scout troops and Girl Guide companies.

The dedication and remembrance service will commence at the Cenotaph at 10:40 a.m. with the singing of "O Canada." The re-dedication of the Cenotaph will be conducted by the Vernon Ministerial Association, with the Rev. T. T. Gibson, B.A.; Rev. R. J. White, and the Most Rev. Archbishop W. R. Adams, D.D., participating. Following the singing of the hymn, "Eternal Father Strong to Save," two minutes' silence will be observed at 11 a.m.

The lament by the Kildonan Pipe Band and the "Last Post" will precede the placing of wreaths on the Cenotaph. A verse of remembrance will be read by Dr. E. W. Prowse, president of Vernon branch, Canadian Legion, after which "Reveille" will be sounded. The benediction will be read by Major G. Crewe, of the Salvation Army.

Immediately following the conclusion of the services, the Vernon branch, Canadian Legion, will place wreaths at veterans' plots in the cemetery.

Prominent Local Church Man Dies

Michael Litzemberger, 69, a well known elder in Vernon's Peace Lutheran Church over the past three years, was accorded final tribute on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at a service conducted by Rev. J. Propp. Committal took place in the Vernon Cemetery.

Mr. Litzemberger, whose birth place is Gassendorf, Austria, became ill in July and failed to recuperate. He died at his home in the Anderson sub-division, Friday, October 31. A resident of Vernon since 1941, he came here from Melville, Sask., where he had carried on mixed farming on the land he homesteaded in 1903.

Mr. Litzemberger was a keen vegetable gardener and spent his last years cultivating a small plot in Vernon. He was known amongst members of the congregation of Peace Lutheran Church for his goodwill and his interest in church activities.

He is survived by his wife in Vernon; three sons, Ludwig, Otto and Alfred, Melville, Sask.; three daughters, Mrs. LeVerne Humbert, Regina, Sask.; Mrs. Philip Litzemberger, Melville, Sask.; Miss Litzemberger, Weyburn, Sask.; one sister, Mrs. Jacob Adolf, Neudorf, Sask. Thirteen grandchildren also survive.

Colorful Atmosphere At Firemen's Dance

A wide range of costumes gave the Firemen's Ball a very colorful atmosphere as the exceptionally good crowd made the masquerade affair a mammoth success. Held in the Canadian Legion auditorium on Halloween night, the dance was the first masquerade ball to be held in the city for some time.

Masks, hats, noisemakers and many other novelties to make the gay atmosphere were given out, and the costumes ranged in style from Mexican to Arab dress.

The award for the best dressed lady was won by Miss Rose Sotter, while Peter Leslie topped the honors for being the best dressed man. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDowell were judged to be the best dressed couple. Fireman Jack Vecey secured the most original costume while Harry Tyrrell received the prize for having the best comic costume.

tem for allocation will be used. They can also be let to non-voters if vacancies exist. Provision is also made for purchase. The city must deed the properties to the crown company for a nominal sum. In Vernon's case, such services as water, sewer, and roads will be constructed by the city which will be reimbursed by Central Mortgage and the houses maintained by the crown. Ordinary rates for water and light are paid. In lieu of taxes, fixed sums are paid the city, averaging about $75 per house per year.

Mr. Harris told the meeting that upon his return to Vancouver he would have complete plot plans drawn and submitted to the Council for approval. The various types of dwellings will be placed in such a manner that a pleasing contrast will result. As soon as necessary formalities are completed with the Council, tenders will be called for construction. Bids are welcomed by local contractors for part or all of the work.

Indirect Method

This indirect manner of election of rural trustees, Mr. Towell pointed out, is similar to the method by which the President of the United States is chosen. American citizens actually vote, not for one of the presidential candidates, but for "electors" who form an "electoral college." The president himself is elected by majority vote of the college.

Of the seven trustees on the Vernon board, two are rural members. During the past year they have been J. Martin, Lumby, and H. W. McIntyre, Kelso.

The schedule of annual rural meetings is as follows:

November 6 at 8 p.m.—Hilton and Richlands at Hilton;
November 7 at 8 p.m.—Lumby;
November 9 at 11 a.m.—Medora Creek, Kelso and Sugar Lake at Medora Creek;
November 9, at 3 p.m.—Trinity Valley;
November 13, at 8 p.m.—Mabel Lake and Shuswap Falls at Mabel Lake;
November 14, at 8 p.m.—Kedeston.

Besides electing rural trustees, the area representatives chosen at these meetings act on behalf of the ratepayers in other school matters. Each year they examine and pass upon the annual school board estimates. Proposed expenditures for school buildings, for which funds are to be raised by bylaw, must also be approved by them. In these matters the representatives perform functions similar to those of the councils in cities and municipalities.

When the proposed bylaw for new schools is presented to ratepayers, rural residents will vote as do city taxpayers. They will vote on the complete bylaw, not just the funds to be expended in their particular districts. It is the overall majority of both rural and urban taxpayers which determine the passage of the bylaw.

City Would Dump All School Costs In Provincial Lap

Vernon will lend its weight to a lobby of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to have the Provincial Government assume the whole cost of education, relieving the cities and municipalities of this threat to their "paralysis and eventual bankruptcy." Mayor David Howrie has been authorized to go to Victoria on November 24 when U.B.C.M. representatives will meet with the Minister of Municipal Affairs prior to presentation of a resolution to the cabinet.

The resolution grew out of many protests at the fall convention of the U.B.C.M. It proposes that the Provincial Government undertake to finance and control the entire educational program of the province, raising funds through an "education tax" based on the sales tax principle. It also seeks relief from hospital, health and social service obligations.

Limit Reached
In part, the resolution reads, "Whereas the main source of municipal revenue is derived from taxation on land and improvements; and whereas, despite implementation of the Cameron and Goldenberg reports, school costs have increased to a point where provision of essential services within the municipalities are suffering because the limits of taxation on land have been reached; should this condition be allowed to continue, it will mean paralysis and eventual bankruptcy for many municipalities. Therefore be it resolved that the Provincial Government Education Department undertake to finance and control through our elected school boards as presently constituted the entire educational program of the province."

Relieve Obligations
The resolution advocates "that funds be obtained by imposition of an education tax based on sales tax principles—essential foods to be exempted, and the entire net proceeds of such a tax, after providing for the present municipal share of education costs, be used to relieve municipalities and organized districts of their present obligations for hospital, health and social services."

If this scheme cannot be instituted for 1948 financing, the resolution asks that the obligations of the municipalities for education be limited to an amount equal to five mills on 100 percent of land assessments and on 75 percent of improvements.

No Formality as Quarter Million Building Begun

PENTICTON.—No formalities will mark the "turning of the first sod" for Penticton's new $239,000 provincial building. Instead, the commencement of work which was set for October 28, will be treated by the contractors like any other "job of work," they stated.

R. E. Hall and Glen Harris of the firm of Dewar and Hall, who are to construct the building, arrived in Penticton last week to commence preliminary arrangements. Mr. Harris will be superintendent of the task here.

Actually, the "first sod" will likely mean the cutting down of the large, historic yellow pine tree which borders the building. Mr. Harris remarked, adding, "We hate to have to cut down such a beautiful tree, but it is necessary in this case."

The roots of such a tree would be so extensive as to render construction of a large foundation impossible. Also, by continued growth, they might endanger the foundation later, it was stated.

Between 40 and 50 men will be given employment on the task, the company officials said. Work on it will be practically continuous once it is under way, unless extreme cold weather is encountered.

Another Car Crash At Grindrod Crossing

GRINDROD, Nov. 4.—On Saturday night, a car travelling north had the misfortune to miss the railway crossing and hit the rails. Both occupants received slight cuts from flying glass. This is the fourth accident on this crossing this year.

Ray Thomas and family, from Alberta, arrived last week to take possession of their new home here, recently purchased from Bob Hill. Nick Kobus, Vancouver, came in on Tuesday to spend some time visiting his sister here, Mrs. T. Haras.

The Grindrod school children entertained the Mara and Spring Bend school children at an afternoon Halloween party which was greatly enjoyed by them all. On Halloween night, Grindrod was fairly quiet. Only a few acts of property destruction were reported to police.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chritchlow and family, of Oliver, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Peacock, who also have as their guest Mrs. June Bing, of Nanaimo.

Child of Well Known Couple Dies at Coast

ARMSTRONG, Nov. 4.—Many friends of the McCorkell family, both here and in Vernon, heard with regret of the passing in Vancouver General Hospital, October 27, of Valerie Jean, aged six years, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCorkell, of Duncan.

Besides her parents, she is survived by one brother, Franklin; two sisters, Juniata and Beverly; her mother, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. McCorkell, of New Westminster, at one time residents of Vernon; and Mrs. F. Glanier, of this city.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. F. E. Runnalls on Thursday afternoon, October 30, were held in Zion United Church. Interment was in the family plot in the Armstrong cemetery.

In August, Mr. and Mrs. McCorkell and four children spent a month with relatives here. Shortly after returning home, Valerie Jean took ill and for six weeks she was a patient in the hospital at Duncan, and in St. Paul's Hospital and the General Hospital in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. McCorkell and daughter, Beverly, arrived here Thursday morning to attend the funeral, and left again on Friday night for their home in Duncan.

Mr. Guthrie then presented the charter to the Lumby Lions Club. "Our service is the rent we pay to be here on earth," said Mr. Guthrie. "Do the work for your fellow man and for the community, which Lionism stands for, and you will be proud, and your friends will be proud of you."

They will go to Toronto Royal Winter Fair this month to take part in national competitions. The clever sisters are daughters of Len Wood, president of the B.C. Herford Breeders' Association.

Lumby Farmers Told of Artificial Breeding Scheme

LUMBY, Nov. 5.—The Lumby and District Farmers' Institute held a meeting at the Mabel Lake Community Hall on October 27. After some discussion of the Institute activities during the summer, the chairman called on S. R. Noble, superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Farm, to address the meeting.

Mr. Noble explained the genetics of dairy cattle breeding and thus emphasized the importance of a proven herd sire—proven not only by his pedigree but by the records of his daughters. Such a bull is admittedly out of reach of the average dairyman, said Mr. Noble, but through the use of an artificial breeding station, the expense can be shared and such an animal made available to all herds.

The speaker stressed that for such a station to be a success, a community must decide on or two types of cattle and all the farmers must support the station.

Mr. Noble distributed literature containing valuable information for feeding dairy cows and calves.

In the absence of the president, P. J. Watson, Stephen Freeman was in the chair. Members were reminded that as the per capita fee of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture had been raised to enable it to carry on its valuable work, the Institute membership would be $1.75 next year. This increased fee has been paid out of the funds this year, so every member and farmer is asked to support the Institute by paying up his dues. Need Postmaster.

A notice was read asking that some responsible person take over the duties of postmaster at Mabel Lake. W. G. Proctor, after serving that district for 44 years wishes to retire from his position.

Mrs. Freeman, on behalf of the gathering, thanked Mr. Noble for coming so far to address the meeting. The meeting enjoyed the refreshments that the Mabel Lake housewives are becoming well known for in Institute circles.

A Halloween dance sponsored by the Lumby Community Club in aid of the Lumby Teenagers was a success, with a big attendance, and marked the only organized event of the evening. Trick and treat was the order of the night for the youngsters, while the older gangs of boys roamed the town in search of excitement. There was the usual crop of overturned outhouses, gates missing, and fences broken.

Football Tourney. Lumby boys are getting in trim for the Silver Pheasant Football Tournament to be held on Mackie's Field this coming Saturday. Last Wednesday, the boys under Mr. Lane's guidance, had a friendly game with the boys from Mackie's. The school served refreshments to the visitors after the game.

Play practices for the High School are under way. The date for the performance has been set for November 28, the Community Hall. A good orchestra will provide music for the dance.

The annual school meeting for the Lumby area has been set for Wednesday, November 9 in the Lumby High School. Election of representatives and other school business will be transacted. The School Inspector, A. B. Howell, will be in attendance. It is hoped that there will be a good turnout of people interested.

Legion Centre. The Lumby Canadian Legion building is now in the final phases of completion. The stucco job has been completed and the premises should be ready in about two weeks' time, according to reports. A very efficient plant has been installed and insulation will make the building very comfortable. Incidentally, all Legion members are asked to turn out this Sunday to help insulate the ceiling with shingles. Plans are well under way for the big Armistice dance on November 11 in the Community Hall.

Lead Poisoning From Factory Lunch. Eating lunch at the factory work bench is dangerous, according to a warning from the Industrial division of the Department of National Health and Welfare. Workers, carelessly placing food on the work bench, may add some such dangerous metallic substance as lead to their diet, and say the health authorities, lead poisoning is far too common an industrial disease. Care is also urged in measures for ventilating plants to clear air of lead dust and lead fumes.

Shoot Holes In Boat At Summerland Pier

SUMMERLAND.—A distressing story of willful damage to private property has been disclosed this week by R. J. Bangma, whose power boat anchored off shore a short distance in lower town has been so badly damaged that it will take a great deal of money to restore it to its former usefulness.

Mr. Bangma was proud of his boat and turned down some lucrative offers this spring. He wanted the boat for many pleasurable hours cruising and fishing on Okanagan Lake.

But person with small-bore rifles hitting the boat for target practice, while others have managed to get out in the water and badly damaged it with the obvious intent of looting.

Mr. Bangma states that other boats have been tampered with in lower town to such an extent that it is not safe to leave anything of value in that area.

He points out that there should be hundreds of boats off shore in Summerland, with the ideal conditions for boating provided by Okanagan Lake. But such willful damage acts as a deterrent to those who otherwise would be enjoying the natural advantages provided here.

Good Winter Feeding Keeps Hens Laying

Under modern conditions the domestic fowl lays more eggs than would be required to fulfill Nature's original plan of laying enough eggs to hatch out the following generation. This she can do without apparent harm, provided the flock is properly managed and fed.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont., says W. Mountain, the head poultryman, families of pullets have been high as 90 percent through the fall and winter months. Though these birds have been bred for high production, the proper environment must be maintained to keep them in good condition. The smaller details of management must be strictly observed as well as the better known aids to high yields, such as artificial lighting, proper ventilation of houses and balanced diets. The division of the day into feeding periods to coincide with egg collections has been found to be advantageous.

Keep Them Scratching. Shortly after the lights are turned on at 7 a.m. a quarter of the day's supply of scratch grain is scattered and fresh water given. At 9 a.m. green feed in the form of chopped alfalfa hay, which has been steeped in cold water overnight and drained, is placed in shallow tubs. Around noon a small quantity of the same mash as that which is before the birds is given. At four o'clock more green feed is supplied in sufficient quantity to last through the evening hours. The last chore of the day is to scatter the evening scratch grain and change the water. It is important that between the hours of six and nine at night, when the birds are unattended, there should be grain to scratch for, and greens to pick at.

This program may be changed according to circumstances, but the chief aim is to promote continuous interest and activity.

Diseases lower production quickly, but can often be prevented by the immediate removal of the first signs displaying morbidity or lack of interest in food, while others are scratching. Comfortable quarters with ventilation easily adjustable to winds and weather do much to keep a flock in laying condition.

Experience is largely based on observation and whether a drop in production is caused by stale mash, vermin or lice, the ability to recognize the accompanying signs will prevent unnecessary losses.

Kelowna Streets Not Cleaned To Council's Complete Satisfaction

KELOWNA.—Alderman Jack Horn and Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games didn't quite see eye to eye at Council meeting last week on the degree of cleanliness of the city streets, but they both agreed there is nothing can be done about it this year.

"We are falling down on our street cleaning," said the mayor to touch off the discussion. He realized that with the present storm drains which could not carry away a large amount of water, the use of water pressure was not feasible. Mr. Horn observed that there has been some improvement this year.

"Not that I have noticed," replied the mayor. "We've got to study this matter." His Worship pressed, Alderman R. P. Walrod suggested the matter might be taken care of with installation of new storm drains. City Engineer H. C. Blackborough said a pump would be needed at each drain. Alderman Horn said use of vacuum sweepers was being investigated.

But when it came to the matter of paying for all this, all parties to the discussion agreed it would have to be left for next year's budget.

Decision made at the meeting was that the arrangements shall, for the time being, be kept to the four clubs. This will not preclude later expansion, when this becomes necessary.

Reeve Robert Lyon attended on behalf of the council, but announced the appointment of Councillor Neil McKerracher, of Vernon, as chairman of the new group, with A. J. Tough, vice-chairman, Walter Beckwall, secretary, and E. Gibbs, treasurer.

Representatives attending the gathering were as follows: Robert McKerracher, W. Fletcher, Harold Davies, Gyro, E. Gibbs, A. J. Tough, W. "Pete" Watson, Kiwanis, H. W. Black, Kinsmen, Gerry Ritchie, Walter Beckwall, Ted Moore.

Oyama Children Cram Hall For Halloween Festivities

OYAMA, Nov. 5.—The annual Halloween party held in the Community Hall for the school children on Friday night proved a great success. The hall was filled to capacity with children in masquerade costumes, accompanied by their parents.

School teachers D. Braund, and Miss Hromek spared no efforts in making up the program for the older children, with relay races, musical games and some dancing interspersed.

Miss H. Dewar took care of the pre-school and first and second grade children. Musical games were played in the Legion rooms for a time.

Members of the Women's Institute—Mrs. V. Ellison, Mrs. H. Aldred, Mrs. F. Whipple, Mrs. T. Toogood and Mrs. J. Young—looked after refreshments for children and adults.

Mrs. D. Egles, Mrs. R. Tucker, Mrs. J. Foley and Mrs. Geo. Pottery acted as masquerade judges and presented the attractively done-up prizes to winners.

Following are the prize winning costumes: Pre-school—Arlene and Cheryl Trewhitt, bunnies; Stevie Davies, firecracker; Patsy Hobbs, Red Riding Hood.

Grades one and two—Tatso Yamamoto, cook; Gail Braund, Bo-Peep.

Ages eight to ten—Best dressed girl, Shirley McClure, gypsy; best dressed boy, David McClure, lion; comic boy, John Towgood, little old man; spirit of Halloween, girl, Sylvia Stanley, ghost; spirit of Halloween, boy, Gerry Patullo, owl.

Ages 11 to 14—Best dressed girl, Ann Spencer, Spanish lady; best dressed boy, Alan Aldred, pirate; comic girl, Jean Norman, Order of the Bath; comic boy, Keith Norden, R.F.M. motor oil; best couple, Joan Petereder and Valerie Stephen as summer and winter.

Special group prize went to "Ogopogo," the Okanagan mythical water monster made and worn by three girls, Mary Ellison, Maureen McClure and Barbara Wynne. Mr. Braund was voted the best dressed teacher.

Short Packing Year. The Vernon Fruit Union packing house closed on Saturday last for the fall session. This has been the shortest run for some years. It is expected, however, that they will be re-opening for winter work at some later date.

The B.C. Shippers expect to close their fall run at the end of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Morrison and daughter, Margaret, left at the weekend to spend a vacation in Vancouver. Margaret will remain in Vancouver to finish her schooling. Leaves for Australia.

Mrs. R. Allison returned home from the Coast last week after accompanying her sister, Mrs. E. A. McDowell, of London, England, to Seattle. Mrs. McDowell, who spent part of the summer here, left from Seattle by plane for Australia where she will spend two weeks before resuming her journey by plane to Ceylon, India, to spend the winter there with her daughter. Mrs. McDowell said she much enjoyed the visit in the Okanagan and regretted leaving. Her newly made friends, Mrs. Allison, who also made the trip to Seattle by plane and return, received a cablegram that her sister had arrived safely in Australia.

Mrs. A. G. R. Prickard and her friend, Miss Steed, are leaving Monday for Comox, where they will spend the winter months. Howard Brown, of Garden City, South Dakota, who is a nephew of Mr. Rea, is spending several weeks visiting with relatives here.

Falkland Dance On Hallowe'en Well Attended

FALKLAND, Nov. 4.—The Falkland Hallowe'en dance, October 31, was well attended. Music was supplied by the local orchestra recently enlarged by guitar player Dan Cross, from Alberta.

The costumes were judged just before supper, with keen competition. The first "couples" went to J. Henderson and G. Smith, who made a splendid Chinese couple.

The second prize went to Mrs. J. Netzel and Mrs. D. Hammon, who were dressed as two black cats. Prize for the most original costume went to two school girls, Dawn Aitken and Olive Smith, dressed as two pirates. They even had a treasure chest with them.

The first single prize went to Yvonne Gotochew as an Indian maid with papoose on her back. Penny and Janet Coupler, dressed as two bunnies, were awarded the "children's" prize. The judges were E. Hoole, of Westwood, and Mr. Pritchard, of Falkland.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Lyness and family spent the weekend at Enid's visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lyness, who returned with them to Paxton Valley for an extended visit to their old home.

Peachland Learns About Wide Red Cross Work

Okanagan Falls Votes Strongly to Be "Wet"

PENTICTON.—A strong majority of Okanagan Falls residents registered a "wet" vote in the local option plebiscite held there on October 25. The vote was a heavy one, the returning officer, T. Worth, states.

The election operated without incident, but contrasted vividly with the recent "dry" choice registered by Peachland, and earlier, at Keremeos.

Of a possible 162 persons on the voters' list, 147 recorded their choice. About ten of those named on the list have left the district, or were absent, and could not record their choice. Those voting for sale of beer by the glass numbered 88, those against 58, there being only one spoilt ballot.

In addition to Mr. Worth, there was the poll clerk, Mrs. M. A. Bassett, one of the Falls pioneers, and two scrutineers for each side, W. M. Thomas and A. T. Smith for the "wets" and J. R. Christie and Mrs. Ethel Thomas for the "drys."

Mr. Worth reports there was "quite a celebration" afterward, but no untoward incident occurred.

Beaver Is Waterproofed

Mr. Beaver's skin is kept dry when he submerges by oil glands generously smeared over its fur, providing a waterproof dressing impervious to moisture. His ears and nostrils, too, are equipped with valves to exclude water and because of the arrangement of his lips which meet behind the incisor or front teeth, he is able to work underwater without inconvenience.

Must Use New Busses For Penticton Runs

PENTICTON.—Council has decided that Columbia Coachways Ltd., who have a franchise to operate a bus service in Penticton, must adhere to the strict terms of their agreement with the municipality.

This decision came following a series of meetings with representatives of the company who recently asked permission to start the service with one second-hand bus.

The agreement calls for "new and modern" busses, and also stipulates that there shall be service for sixteen hours daily with each bus served at intervals of not less than one hour.

The company's franchise, approved by the Public Utilities Commission, sets January 23 as the date by which service must be commenced here.

J. L. Wood, company representative, had argued that by permitting the company to use a 1947 bus, used for some five months, at least partial service could be started before the end of the year.

Peachland Gets None of Refund From Province

PEACHLAND, Nov. 4.—The regular meeting of Municipal Council was held in the Municipal Hall Thursday evening of last week.

A letter was read from the Provincial Government regarding the adjustment that had been made between the Dominion and Provincial Governments regarding relief loans to municipalities in 1935. Peachland's share amounted to $474.06. This was deducted from $1,946.25 owing by Peachland, leaving the municipality still in debt to the Provincial Government for a principal of $1,472.19. The municipality is being asked to give consideration to the retirement of the outstanding debt in full.

The municipality had spent well over $1,000 on beach clearing and surveying of lakeshore lots. The Council wished to know what compensation the municipality would receive for this expropriation of lakeshore property between the highway and the lake, title to which was in the name of the Corporation of Peachland, but on which the Provincial Department of Public Works advised no construction could take place.

School Bylaw

Discussing the school loan bylaw, C. C. Inglis, as returning officer, stated that the bylaw had not received the assent of the Peachland municipal electors, 85 voting against and 23 for. The Kelowna Courier's editorial, "Peachland on a Limb," was discussed by the reeve and council and the question was asked, "What do we do now?" as the legal aspect of the situation as viewed from the municipal law point of view is quite involved.

Council then discussed affairs of the fire department. There is no fire chief at present. The reeve and council decided to prepare a money bylaw for the purchase of a "jeep" fire truck at a cost of $7,000.

No Dog Catcher

Reeve A. E. Miller spoke of the need of a dog pound in the Trepanier area of the municipality. There have been many complaints of stock roaming at large and causing some considerable damage. Councillor Hawksley asked who the potential poundkeeper might be. The council is willing to arrange for a pound, but the trouble is to find someone prepared to act as KAMLOOPS.—To assist Kamloops Tourist Bureau to maintain itself in year-round operation as an information centre, city council recently made a grant of $125 to the Kamloops Board of Trade. poundkeeper, he said. Councillor G. M. Finlayson was asked to try and get someone to act in this capacity.

There was some discussion regarding the amount of money spent during 1947 on roads, which totals to date, some $2,131. The budget allowance was $1,500 and there had been a carryover of $617.42 from the roads bylaw of 1946. It was decided that a further $300 be appropriated for road maintenance. The difference between last year's and this year's grant from the Provincial Government, which is $508.40, is to be used for road expenditures in 1947. Commencing in November, the council meetings will be held in the afternoon at two o'clock.

District Governor's Address

In an eloquent address, District Governor Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Wash., struck a dominant chord when he asserted that the organization was founded on the principles of the Golden Rule. The slogan of "Liberty, Intelligence and National Safety" exemplified true patriotism.

In his initial remarks Mr. Guthrie said, "We have a lot of fun in Lions clubs." An interesting requirement is "we eat when we meet," thus adding enjoyment to the gatherings. But, he said, there is a serious side to the organization.

Referring to the Lions club of ethics (eight in number), Mr.

Rare Chinchillas from High Andes Come to Okanagan

A new industry has come to the Okanagan. Cecil Golding, mail carrier and storekeeper of Ewing's Landing, has purchased and installed in pens built for the purpose, a pair of the rare fur-bearing chinchilla. This is one of ten chinchilla ranches in Canada.

The native home of the chinchilla "Lanigera" from which Canadian and American stock is derived, is in the rocky peaks of the highest Andes in Chile. There are, however, several types of chinchillas native to certain sections of Chile, Peru, Argentina and Bolivia, but the better fur bearers come from the inaccessible reaches of the South American mountains.

A guest register was passed around the banquet tables, and some 120 names registered.

The evening completed on a happy note when dancing was enjoyed for several hours to the music of Johnson's orchestra.

During the dance, a drawing for an automatic electric iron was won by Dr. Colman, Vernon. The iron had been donated to the local Lions Club by Messrs. Dingwall and Wipp.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the charter by District Governor Robert Guthrie. Mr. Guthrie conveyed the good wishes of all members of District 19D, concluding by saying, "It is with a great deal of pleasure that I present to you this charter this evening."

In accepting the handsome parchment, President Len Wood spoke with feeling of the great privilege afforded him to receive the charter on behalf of the club. He continued, "Lionism is making rapid progress in the district," and he hoped on behalf of the other members that they would live up to the Lions emblem, "Liberty, Intelligence and a Nation's Safety."

It was his particular desire that "hands across the border" be promoted.

But what of the animal itself? Chinchillas are true rodents, said to be related to no other animal on earth. They have no nails, so cannot dig out of captivity; neither can they climb, but like all rodents, delight to gnaw.

Chinchillas are often wrongly connected with the rabbit family because some years ago a type of rabbit was developed with fur similar in color, a lovely smoky grey, which was named "chinchilla" rabbit.

As chinchilla fur is the rarest and most expensive fur on earth, and rabbit is the cheapest, the confusion in name. A coat of this fur would be worth a fabulous sum today as it takes from 120 to 140 of these tiny skins to make a coat, which would range in price up to $80,000. When the fur was plentiful it was used extensively for trimming luxurious evening dresses and wraps as it is very light in weight, a yard of chinchilla fur being of the same weight as a yard of pure silk.

The chinchilla is naturally docile, nocturnal, inclined to be somewhat timid, very intelligent and friendly, so makes a nice pet and is easy to handle. They are by nature monogamous, very fond of their mate and their own nest. They usually breed twice a year, sometimes three times, and are very long lived. The babies are born fully furred with their eyes open, one to four to a litter, the average being two.

The average weight at birth is one and a quarter ounces. Chinchillas at maturity weight 20 to 24 ounces.

The terms "babies" and "litters" while not usually associated, are freely used in the chinchilla trade.

Bathe Often
 Chinchillas are exceedingly clean, delight in a bath of finest sand or dust. They bathe each morning and immediately after they have been handled, presumably to rid themselves of any scent of human hand. These little animals are free from body vermin, which is believed to be largely responsible for the low rate of infectious diseases.

Enderby Lions

A flag set was presented by the Yakima club. Mr. Guthrie mentioned in this presentation that, since Australia had been added, there were 10 countries represented in the flag set. Lions Club membership the world over is approximately 335,000 in 6,000 clubs.

As a final honor, it was with great pleasure that Mrs. Irvine, wife of the president of the Vernon club, presented Mrs. Woods with a beautiful bouquet. Mrs. Woods was responsible for providing the dinner for the evening. Following an intermission, the local swingster's orchestra supplied the music for dancing.

Officers in the Enderby Lions Club are as follows:

A Letter of General Interest

Urges Closed Season On Pheasants
Editor, The Vernon News: Sir:
I was pleased to see you give some attention to the matter of "the vanishing pheasant" in your issue of October 30. It is entirely obvious to anyone who has noted the steady decline during the past years that the pheasant is on its way out and that the North Okanagan is about to lose one of its main attractions.

While it is a fact that most of the birds killed this season are young ones, it certainly is not because the old-timers have taken to the tall timber as Game Warden Atwood asserts. If they have, we will never see them again because they will starve to death up there. It merely points up the fact that we are killing off next season's breeding stock; that we are getting ahead of the supply.

There may be many reasons for the decline of our pheasant crop, one of which must be the heavy increase of hunters, but the number one reason is the lack of control over the seasonal limit. There is some respect for the daily limit, but none whatever for the seasonal limit. The tag system is easily the most effective way of controlling the seasonal limit, but it should have been introduced years ago; the crop is so low now that only full protection will halt the decline.

It will take a lot of talking to get a closed season, there will be vociferous opposition from some quarters, but outside of the vegetable growers no one, not even the seed growers, suffers any great amount of damage.

As you pointed out, the pheasant is one of our assets and now, not next year, is the time to start a campaign to give it the only kind of protection that will do any good, namely, a closed season.

D. W. HENRY,
Coldstream Municipality.

Rev. Canon H.C.B. Gibson Ends 25 Years in City

The Rev. Canon H. C. B. Gibson announced Tuesday that after 25 years in Anglican Church work in Vernon he intends to resign his position in order to seek service in a less onerous charge. His departure is not expected to take place until the New Year. Miss Mabel Gibson, his sister, is expected to accompany him to a new charge.

Canon Gibson was ordained in England in 1904. He served there for five years before coming to Canada, where he occupied charges on the prairies for 12 years. In 1921 Canon Gibson came to Vernon as rector.

The announcement came at the Rural Deanery conference of Anglican Churches in the Okanagan, held in Vernon.

Lumby Liberals Organize For Federal By-Election

LUMBY, Nov. 3.—Lumby Liberal Association members got together on Wednesday, October 29, in the hall above the paint shop. The purpose of the meeting was to organize for the coming by-election in Yale Federal Riding caused by the resignation of Hon. Grose Stelling, of Kelowna. Election of officers, a report on the conditions and progress in this riding and elsewhere in the Province by C. W. Morrow, the local member, along with the appointment of delegates to attend the Penitentiary convention on Wednesday, November 12, were the main items of the meeting.

The meeting also had the pleasure of hearing Howard Thornton, president of the Okanagan Valley Liberal Association, speak.

Elections, resulted as follows: President, R. Ward; honorary president, Hon. John Hart; vice-president, Johnnie Genier; secretary-treasurer, A. F. Paradis. Executive is as follows: Mr. Ferguson, Rod Chisholm, Cec Willis, Mr. Barnes and Mr. Finlayson.

The financial statement showed a balance of $45.51. This report was read to the meeting by Mr. Turnbull.

New Voters' List
In Mr. Morrow's remarks to the gathering, he stated that a new voters' list for all of Yale riding was to be made up. Mr. Jackson, of Kelowna, chief returning officer for Yale, will appoint enumerators in the unorganized districts such as the Lumby area. The roads, Mr. Morrow said, have been vastly improved, being paved all the way to Vernon. Some of the Lumby street, too, have received black-top, he pointed out. The government was prepared to help pave the skating rink but local arrangements could not be made. He said there was a possibility that the road would be pushed on through Lumby in the government's paving program. Of 300 miles paved in B.C. this year the North Okanagan has received 14 miles, said Mr. Morrow. This was a much better than average for the other ridings.

Mr. Morrow in a very interesting talk, covered briefly the main legislation covered in this session, pointing out that 110 separate statutes had been passed. In the Aid to Children's Act the government takes on 80 percent of the cost of Social Services. This means an immense saving to municipalities, he said, when it is considered that one child coming under the care of this act cost $1 a day for a minimum of 16 years. Now the government takes 80 percent of this cost. The government did not act on the advice of an Elections Act committee which recommended compulsory voting, basing their recommendation on the result of a questionnaire sent to 3,000 persons.

A permanent deputy registrar of voters in each electoral district has been appointed whose main job is to see that the voters' list is kept up to date.

Problems of establishing a medical school at the University of B.C. were placed before the meeting with the result that an impasse had been reached, the government voting $1,500,000 for the beginning of the school, the U.B.C. standing out for $6,000,000. Venereal disease, pointed out Mr. Morrow, is now a notifiable disease. Persons contracting this disease must now report and take treatment. This is a positive step forward in combating this scourge.

Compulsory Car Insurance
Another interesting matter discussed was compulsory insurance for car owners. There are now 120,000 cars in B.C. one for every six people, said Mr. Morrow. The Motor Car Insurance Act is on the books but has not been proclaimed yet. However, insurance companies have set up a fund of $160,000 to cover cases where owners of vehicles involved in accidents are not financially able to pay the damages incurred by them. When the act is in force, cars involved in accidents where the damage is over $25 will be immediately impounded by the police and released only when the driver gives assurance that he is able to pay for the damages. If he is not able to pay, the car remains impounded and the fund reimburses for the damages.

With reference to the Liquor Act, Mr. Morrow said that licenses are cancelled the moment a premise is changed hands, and must be re-applied for. Fines have been on juvenile cases from $300 to $500 which in effect makes it easier to correct such offenders. An educational program on "How to Drink" has been launched and would appear to be a logical way of tackling this major problem.

While government liquor profits are tremendous, many good things are done with the revenue. Five dollars has been added to the old age pensions. There has been a raise across the board in civil servants' pay, and $1,500,000 has been paid to road contractors to meet soaring costs on their projects. Mr. Morrow thought that a big surplus would again be recorded this year.

"We were on an upsurge which will last at least another five or six years. Three hundred thousand persons have come into the province in the last five years," he said. "B.C. still needs 3,000,000 more to bring it to parity with other provinces. It is a voice that holds equality with Ontario and Quebec in federal affairs."

Throughout his remarks, Mr. Morrow interspersed many humorous incidents and anecdotes. He closed his talk with an appraisal of the Liberal chances in the by-election. They were never better, he said. There is a very good chance a Liberal from the North Okanagan will contest the Yale Federal riding.

No One Wants

percent of the executive did not attend the meetings last year. Fred Harwood suggested at this point that the meeting elect an executive and then get hold of one of the members and "hold a hammer over his head" to accept the presidency.

Two more nominations followed this suggestion and these were refused to stand. Mr. Thornton got up to say he felt "there is something wrong with anybody who would not get out and help in their country's doings. We are living in a democracy and the average one here is wondering if they should disclose their politics. There is no such word as politics. If we have to hide what we think, then we are not living in Canada. There is something wrong here."

Not Russia

"I joined the Army some eight years ago to hear you people say what you think and not having to hide. I want to see the movement gathering momentum. Let us see if we do something about getting a good slate. We are living in Canada, not Russia."

Mr. Morrow thought the sensible thing to do would be to defer the election of the president until Friday night, when the North Okanagan Liberal Association will meet, and in the meantime select someone who would accept the nomination.

Frank Valair asked, "Surely there is someone here tonight who would stand for president? It is a shame when you consider the amount of people here and there is no one willing to stand for president."

H. K. Bearsto, who earlier had declined a nomination, said, "We want a strong executive here and I would like to see an election for this executive. For the sake of the whole group, would it not strengthen it if we left it until Friday night?"

Must Do Something
Lionel Valair said he did not think that could be done. He added, "I do not want any part of the job. The only time the Liberal party wants any work out of the executive is at election time, and I feel we should work 12 months of the year."

Mr. Thornton then nominated another Liberal at the meeting, who followed the other nominees in declining. Mr. Morrow then said, "We have got to do something about it." He asked if those who had been nominated would care to let their names stand for the executive. They agreed.

Thus the executive will comprise Gordon Muir, Fred Harwood, William Hall, Douglas Byrne, Dr. J. E. Harvey, E. B. Cousins, Jack Briard, M. A. Lincoln, Lionel Valair, Manuel Gould, H. K. Bearsto, Cammy LeBlond and C. E. Snider. All these men had previously declined the nomination for president. Harold Gorman, who earlier had declined a nomination for the presidency, also declined at this point to serve on the executive.

To bring the executive up to 16 persons, Mrs. T. Collier, Mrs. R. W. McIndoe and H. Bergman were nominated and agreed to serve on the body.

Executive Will Select
Mr. Morrow declared that an executive meeting would be held before Friday and the election was concluded. A president, secretary, treasurer and other officers will be chosen from this executive.

Each member of the executive will serve as a delegate to the Yale Liberal convention which will be held at Penitentiary at a future date. In addition, S. J. Martin, C. B. Smith, Frank Valair, David Howrie, William Cryderman, Arthur Legg, L. G. Turnbull, Fred Klymchuk, Mrs. E. B. Cousins and delegates.

The appointment of delegates to the provincial convention on December 6 was left until the meeting on Friday night.

"Let's Have the Facts"
Prior to election of the executive, Mr. Thornton briefly addressed the meeting. He dealt chiefly with organization matters as he said he saw the association "did not have any semblance of organization." He referred to Coalition matters for a moment and to Macdonald King as "the finest leader we have ever had in Canada."

He told the meeting, "We have voters that are kept on the outside of what is going on and there are a few people in the Liberal party who have kept the fact hidden that they are a member of the party. They do not know a blamed thing about what is going on." Mr. Thornton advocated the educating of these people, getting them to vote and teaching them how to vote.

"We should know what is going on from the top and spread out our speakers so the public can be informed as to what is going on."

The president of the Yale Liberal Association told the Vernon association that there might not be a by-election this year or next spring, although Tom Reid, the Liberal whip, had given the idea there may be an election in the spring.

He spoke of the new spirit in Vernon which was evident in everything the city had done in the last two years. "This new spirit is coming from the help of you older people and the drive of the young people coming back."

Reports of talks by Mr. Morrow and Arthur Lang at this meeting are carried elsewhere in this issue of The Vernon News.

Bracken Promises

Turning to world affairs, Mr. Green noted that Canada will shortly become a member of the Security Council of the United Nations. "Canada should take her share on every issue that comes before the Council," he declared.

"There should be no hedging and no dodging of these issues. I'm afraid that too often Mr. King has dodged and hedged. You know he is an expert dodger."

In Commonwealth affairs the Conservative party has traditionally been the champion of closer relations. "This party from its beginnings has stood for the closest of Commonwealth relations. We stand there today more surely than ever before."

Admitting that on this issue he has no quarrel with the B.C. Liberal members, Mr. Green demanded: "Where does the Federal Liberal party stand on this issue?"

"The Federal Liberal party hedges on this question because it has to hedge to get support in certain parts of Canada."

Since formation of the Labor government in Great Britain, the G.C.F. are "the greatest little empire builders we have." But where did they stand before? "They sneered at Tory Britain and continued to sneer all during the war years." In support of his contention, he read from the official debates in the House of Commons on September 9, 1939, in which Mr. C. D. Gowland argued that no member should be sent overseas and that should be limited to materials.

"We are the last nation on earth which wants a socialist state. The last nation of earth who would want our lives planned by some politicians."

Bruin Likes Cascara

The cascara "pill tree" got the name bearberry (or its corruption barberry) from the fact the small black fruit that appears in late summer is a favorite food of Mr. Bruin and many a tree carries his claw marks.

Ghosts Galore at P.-T.A. Party in The Coldstream

A wide variety of costumes were displayed by the children of the Coldstream district on Halloween when they attended a party in the Women's Institute Hall as guests of the P.T.A. Ghosts and witches, pirates and gypsies, the queen of Hearts and a bevy of beautiful ladies, and a large number of tramps romped together in all their favorite games arranged for them by the 1st Company of Coldstream Girl Guides.

Special games for the pre-school and primary children were in charge of Miss B. Tapp. The hall had been decorated for the occasion by Miss O. Jokanovich, and the senior room was truly a witch's cave, with bats, huge jack-o-lanterns, owls and a luminous skeleton, adding to the festive spirit of the night.

Prize Winners
Competition for best costumes was keen. The judges, Mrs. R. Quirk, Mrs. S. Morris and Maj. M. A. Curwen, had a very difficult job, but finally selected the following:

Pre-school group: Panda Bear—Wynne Gordon; Soldier Boy—Stanley Panshuik; Owl—Shaun Gregg.

Primary room: Indian Maiden—Susaka Kumiugay; Scarecrow—Robert Gregg.

Senior room: Little Old Lady—Irene Firman; Robin Hood—Jimmy Gordon.

Best comics: Circus Clown—Caroline Kinloch; Prespector—Stanley Fukawa.

Special surprises were given all pre-school children who attended. The refreshments, under the co-operation of Mrs. J. de Jong and Mrs. C. W. Husband, were served buffet style from a table centred with a huge jack-o-lantern. Later, coffee and cake were served to parents.

After thanking the parents for their co-operation in making the evening such a success, Mrs. D. Sales, president, announced that on November 21 in the W.I. Hall, Coldstream, she asked for the support of the parents and their friends.

The next regular meeting of the P.T.A. will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, November 10, in the W.I. Hall.

Urgent Need of Bibles in World

"Never in all history was it as urgent as now to send forth the light of the Christian witness throughout the world to overcome the darkness and usher in the dawn of a new day of freedom, justice, peace and brotherhood," declared Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley, speaking on Sunday, October 26, in the Vernon United Church at the annual meeting of the local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Mr. Tingley, who is district secretary of the Society in B.C., in giving an illustrated address on "We Keep a Light," portrayed the darkness which exists today throughout the world and stated that millions who sit in the darkness of paganism, bondage, superstition and evil, are longing for the light of the Bible to shine through and bring them hope and a new life. The task of the Bible Society, he said, is to translate the Scriptures into the languages of all peoples, print the Bible in those many tongues and distribute it to people everywhere. Vast sums of money are required to provide the Bible to people of Europe, Asia and Africa. A fund of one million dollars is being raised to send the Scriptures to stricken Europe.

Only Hope
The secretary of the Bible Society, speaking in the morning at Elgin Tabernacle, and in the evening at the service of worship in the United Church, strongly urged upon the people of Vernon a greater sense of responsibility to send forth the light of God's Word as the only hope of the world.

The public meeting was attended by representatives of the churches of Vernon and was conducted by Rev. Gerald Payne, Miss E. S. Eby, Bible woman for the British and Foreign Bible Society who at present is working in Vernon, was introduced. She will spend two months in the city distributing the Bible and other Christian literature. She has a display of Scriptural supplies at the home of Rev. B. J. White.

A brief message was given by Mrs. Campbell Brown, who spoke of the fact that the missionaries are dependent upon the work of the Bible Society.

Major G. Crews was elected president of the Vernon Branch of the

Local Wedding of Interest in Valley

A wedding of wide interest to Armstrong and Vernon residents took place Saturday, November 1, at the Vernon United Church, when Eileen Elizabeth Mills, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mills, of Vernon, was united in holy matrimony to William John Pratt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pratt, also of Vernon.

The bride looked charming in a white, two-piece dress with wine accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bridesmaid, Miss May Pratt, sister of the groom, chose a turquoise blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Cecil Ward, was best man, Miss Nellie Forbes, of Vernon, played the wedding march on the piano.

About 90 guests attended the reception held at the Burns Hall, which was decorated with pink and white streamers.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Mills, charming in an aqua blue dress, and matching accessories, with a corsage of pink carnations, and Mrs. Pratt dressed in grey.

Others elected were: C. McClounie, secretary, and H. E. McCall, treasurer. The ministers of the community are vice-presidents of the branch. A concerted effort will be made to reorganize the work and plans for an intensive campaign for funds through the churches.

Salmon Arm Bride Wed in Traditional White at Enderby

ENDERBY, Nov. 3—Nuptial vows were exchanged by Verna Mary Masters, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Masters, of Salmon Arm, and Keith Polson, second son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Polson, of Enderby, in a ceremony at St. Andrew's United Church, Enderby, on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Rev. C. G. MacKenzie officiated, and Mrs. H. Hendrickson played the wedding music. Mr. Masters with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The three-tiered wedding cake graced the table in a setting of yellow and mauve chrysanthemums and white tapers.

Toast to the bride was proposed by A. B. Edwards, with the groom responding. A toast was also proposed to Mrs. E. J. Mills, grandmother of the bride, who presided at the tea urns.

Out-of-town guests included the following Armstrong residents: Mrs. E. J. Mills, Miss Ruby Mills, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mills, Mrs. M. Warner, Bob Foulkes, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. W. Connolly and daughter, Beth, Billy McNair and Mr. and Mrs. H. Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. W. Kelly, of Enderby, and W. Strake, of Vancouver, also were present.

gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was attractively attired in a floor length gown of white silk jersey, featuring around neckline and long full sleeves which were caught to the wrists.

A floor length veil with a head-dress of orange blossoms completed her costume. She wore white silk gloves and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Her only ornament was a string of pearls given to her by her mother, which had been given to the latter on her own wedding day.

Miss Eileen Polson, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore a floor length gown of pink sheer over taffeta. Her headress was a shoulder length veil of pink net. The bride's sister, as maid of honor, was crowned in a pale blue floor length gown, featuring long sleeves. Her headress was a pale blue net shoulder length veil. Both carried bouquets of pale pink chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Maurice Masters, of Salmon Arm. Pat Strouger, of Enderby, acted as usher. During the signing of the register, Mrs. A. Bragg sang "O Perfect Love." Large masses of soft tinted flowers decorated the church and made a picturesque background for the ceremony.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents where friends and relatives gathered to express good wishes to the happy couple.

Pink and white streamers intermingled with white wedding bells decorated the rooms, while the bride's table, a three-tiered wedding cake which had been baked by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Campbell, of Enderby, rested on a lace covered table.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. MacKenzie and responded to by the groom. Assisting with the serving were the groom's sisters, Mrs. John Sterling, of Oyama, Mrs. Robert Strouger, of Grindrod, Miss Helen Polson and Mrs. Donald MacPherson, of Enderby.

For her honeymoon to the southern part of the valley the bride chose a smart suit of American Beauty wool, trimmed with black. She wore a black hat and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Polson will make their home in Enderby where they are both well known.

By CLAIRE WALLACE

throughout Canada and the British Empire thousands of people are probably taking pen in hand to send best wishes for happiness to Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth. Most of the writers are people who have never written to a royal personage before and are faced with the problem of addressing the prospective bride.

Just the other day I received a letter from a Saskatchewan woman who poses the question. She writes:

"Dear Claire Wallace: Maybe you can advise me. I would like to write Queen Elizabeth, but don't know how to go about it. I would like your opinion whether I should write her and also how I should address her. Many friends have advised me to write her, but as a working woman, I did not like to. My reason for wanting to write the Queen is that we have so many calendar dates in common."

Armstrong W.A. To Parks Board Reviews Activity

ARMSTRONG, Nov. 3—A full report of the work of the Women's Auxiliary to the Parks Board since its organization in January of this year was given by the secretary, Mrs. Ronald Fifer, at the monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. Steele Fisher, vice-president, on Tuesday night, October 28.

Funds had been raised by a telephone bridge in February; an old-timers' dance in April, sponsored by the Old-Timers' Dance Club; a quiz and radio concert in May; an afternoon tea in June, put on by Mrs. Rothfield; strawberry social at the home of Mrs. E. Mills, sponsored by ladies in the Power House Road district; a series of Saturday night dances in July and early August. Donations had been received from the Horticultural Society, Hualcar Red Cross Circle, Rebekahs, St. James' Club, Women's Institute, and ladies of the Baptist Church.

This W.A., organized to sponsor the erection of an entrance to the Memorial Park, has completed its work. It was decided to discontinue as a W.A. The secretary was asked to write to the Parks Board informing them of this fact and stating the willingness of the members to be of individual assistance to the board at any time.

Women's Institute Meets
The report of the bazaar held on Saturday, October 25, was given at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute held Wednesday afternoon, October 29, in the City Hall.

Thanks was expressed to all who helped in every way. It was decided to sell the sewing and fancy work that was left, on Saturday afternoon, November 8, in Brudley's Harness Shop.

A letter read from the Canadian Legion told of the Remembrance Day service to be held in the Recreation Hall and at the Cenotaph. Thanks was received from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for the tag day receipts.

A letter from Dr. Lotta Hiltunen, executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, speaking of her trip to Europe, said, "In the kitchens and the pantries I was proudly shown our Canadian food; in the cupboards and drawers, I discovered our Canadian clothing, shoes and underwear; on the beds were our Canadian quilts and blankets; in the doctors' offices were our Canadian vitamins and medical supplies."

The local W.I. have assisted in adopting a child for three months in one of the foster parent homes in Europe. If possible, arrangements will be made to adopt another. The parcel for the British Institute is nearly completed and will be sent in about a week's time.

Arrangements were made for a number of the members to be at the Coldstream Women's Institute on Tuesday, November 4, to hear Mrs. Bromley Martin speak.

J. W. Phillips returned Monday from Kamloops where he has been a patient in Royal Inland Hospital for more than two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Trudell spent the weekend at the Coast.

Constance and Mrs. A. Newhouse left Monday to spend their holiday with Constance Newhouse's mother at Golden.

Mrs. W. Watson left Monday to visit relatives at Revelstoke and Kamloops.

Fred Job, of Toronto, was a weekend guest at the home of Mrs. E. J. Kennedy.

Mrs. Arnold Busby and her two children left Monday night for their home in Calgary.

First, the Queen is Elizabeth and my name is Elizabeth too. The King is George and George is also the name of my husband.

"We were married on the same day, just a few hours apart, and we will both celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary next April 26th. Then Princess Elizabeth was born on my birthday, April 21st. The Queen was born on my father's birthday, August 4th.

"As our silver anniversary is the same day, I'd like to know what you think of this, or do you think I'm foolish?"

"I hope I am not intruding too much on your time and will surely appreciate it very much if you answer my letter."

Sincerely yours, "Elizabeth H." The King and Queen are human and I'm sure they are touched and pleased as any of us when they receive a letter with kind wishes. So there is no reason why you should not send a letter or card to the Queen.

In addressing royalty by letter, there is a set form, just as there is in addressing them in person. Here are the forms which you would use in addressing members of our royal family. To the King, the superscription should read, "To His Majesty the King." Instead of writing "Dear Sir" as you normally would, you address him "Sir" or "May it please Your Majesty," and the first line of your letter will be, "I have the honor humbly to lay before Your Majesty," etc. In closing the letter, instead of "Yours truly," you write: "I have the honor to remain, Sir, Your Majesty's most humble and obedient subject."

In writing the Queen, you use the same form, substituting "Madam" for "Sir."

To address a letter to Princess Elizabeth, or any other princess of Britain's royalty, the superscription reads: "Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth," the address "Madam" or "May it please Your Royal Highness," the letter starts, "I have the honor to approach Your Royal Highness." The letter concludes, "I have the honor to be Madam, Your Royal Highness' most humble and obedient servant."

Good luck with your letters! You will not, of course, receive a personal reply from royalty, but will be sent an acknowledgement on their behalf, probably written by a lady-in-waiting or secretary.

Questions—Etiquette—Answers
Thanks: Margaret J. Charlottetown, E.B.I., writes: "I am going to my first dance soon and I would like to know if I thank the boy for a dance, or if he thanks me." Answer: He thanks you and then you tell him you enjoyed the dance very much.

Readers are invited to address etiquette problems to Claire Wallace, Write Claire Wallace, care The Vernon News. Replies will appear in this column.

"Ticket Girl" Goes Through Nightly "Box Office Quiz"

Vernonites may not be aware of it, but movie goers are strange people and consequently, being a box office girl isn't as easy as it looks. Blond, petite Mrs. Walter Bennett Jr., who takes your money in exchange for theatre tickets, should know. She is a quiz target for the general public to such an extent that even the $64 questions no longer cause her to sit bolt upright, blink both eyes and gasp in amazement the way she used to.

Now a box office veteran of two full years, she classes questions along the gamut from the "obvious" to the "unexplainable." She has learned to take calmly such questions as "Did you see a woman in a brown coat go into the theatre?" And right in her stride are queries about when "Forever Amber" is coming to Vernon. She's sorry, she doesn't know when "Forever Amber" is coming to Vernon.

Adult Questions
One of these days she's determined she's going to find out why some people read the theatre magazine to find out what picture is showing and then proceed to ask her, "What's playing tonight?"

Another one of her unsolved mysteries is why people approach her for a ticket when the sign "Pull House" is displayed, and then ask, "Do you mean that?" Oh well, says Mrs. Bennett with a shrug of her shoulders, "That's life."

Sometimes they come along and want to know the whole story of the movie that is currently playing. This puts her into more awkward dilemma than some of the other questions, because as a rule she never gets a chance to see much more than the end of any movie that comes to Vernon.

Mrs. Bennett has to know the difference between a picture that is "grosse" and a picture that is "not grosse." She usually makes an effort to find this out because it helps parents who are trying to determine whether or not the show is fit for their children to see.

Children's Questions
Children who can't wait to get into the theatre to find out how the show ends are another reason why Mrs. Bennett breaks into conversations of laughter every now and again. They usually want to know if the hero and heroine "got married" and if Gary Grant is a "bad guy" and a "good guy" in this or that particular picture.
"Does he get shot in it?" is a common question asked by tousle-headed little fellows who are deeply concerned.

Strangers in Vernon are notorious for having a special brand of questions for the box office attendant. "Where's the best eating place?" "Is there a dance to-night?" and "When does the train leave?" are all tops on the list of these oft-repeated queries.

Of all the question marks that dance through Mrs. Bennett's mind when she tries to go to sleep at night, there is one that worries her just a little. When someone asks, "Is the show good?" should she answer, "Yes, it's good," or "No, it isn't good?" She finds it takes quite a bit of nerve to answer this in the affirmative because so often it brings on the retort, "Of course, you would say so anyway."
What's a poor girl to do? Can anybody answer that question for the answer girl?

Guest Speaker At Anglican Festival

All Saints' Church, Vernon, this week observed its patronal festival, and special speaker at both services on Sunday, and on Tuesday evening, was Rev. H. R. Embling, former Bishop of Korea, now of New Denver, where he is in charge of Japanese work.

"All Saints' Day, November 1, reminds us of all who have lived and died, and reminds us, too, of the glad reunion to come," Bishop Embling said in his Sunday morning sermon.

He spoke of those Christians, "who once with pride and pleasure, publicly owned their allegiance to God," whose "love for Him has now grown less warm. Let this feast and the promise of a reunion make you pause and think if you do not want to return that allegiance," he said.

The Bishop warned against love of pleasure, self-indulgence, and worldly prosperity, all of which, severally or collectively, would hold back the Christian.

Speaking of "saints," the speaker referred to saints of old, many of whom were working men, to quote the Bishop, but who gave themselves to the promotion of God's Word and Kingdom. Which brought the speaker to the question: "How much do we know of the 64 saints in the Anglican Prayer Book? . . . Very little I'm afraid!"

Attend Church Often
The Bishop urged more regular church attendance, that Anglicans thereby should learn more of the saints, and so profit by their example.

He deplored the short memories of people giving as an example entering St. Paul's Cathedral, London, during the war just concluded, with a young officer. "They came to the Memorial Chapel, with the alabaster sarcophagus, dedicated to the memory of the late Lord Kitchener of Khartoum. Let me see . . . Ah yes, Kitchener. He was a cabinet minister, wasn't he?" said the young officer to Bishop Embling.

Another anecdote of England during the wartime was told by the speaker, who related the bombing of a church in Hull, Yorkshire. "After their usual strong cup of tea, which always followed an air raid, the old ladies in that city went into the church to see what they could do to help. Amid the dust of ages from the shattered rafters was the broken glass, stone and other debris. They began shovelling and clearing. Soon they had the aisles and pews ready again for worship."

A final admonition from the Bishop was, "To live, not as other people think we ought to, but as our conscience tells us we should live. We thank God for holy men and women who served Him through the ages. Let us ask God to accent the sacrifice of our lives, whether by living, or in death, that we may be worthy to walk in the similitude of those saints we commemorate today."

Business Women Hosts to Ghosts, Guests at Party

The spirit of Halloween, complete with Jack o' lanterns and ghosts, permeated the gay party in the Canadian Legion hall, attended by members of the Vernon Business and Professional Women's Club and their guests on October 30.

A program of music and games, with fortunes told by the modern medium of punch-board rather than by the traditional witch, was thoroughly enjoyed, while the presentation of a humorous skit, "Betty Gets the Hair," under the direction of Miss Gladys James, provoked great laughter from the audience.

Following a grand march, the prize for the best costume was awarded to Miss Frances Doherty for her portrayal of a ghost.

Pretty Double Ring Ceremony

On Saturday afternoon, October 18, Vernon United Church was the scene of a pretty double ring ceremony of interest here and in Victoria, the home of the groom, when the Rev. G. W. Payne united in marriage, Marion Alice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rice, of this city, and Stephen Brett Howlett, only son of Mrs. Howlett, of Victoria, and the late R. Howlett, of Ottawa.

The church was tastefully decorated with autumn flowers in mauve and gold. Mrs. C. W. Gaunt Stevenson was at the organ.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of white rayon lace over satin with moulded bodice and full flowing skirt.

Miss Lorna Rice was her sister's bridesmaid, attired in a dress of turquoise net over taffeta of the same shade. She wore a coronet of white baby chrysanthemums.

Her bouquet was of the same flowers interspersed with pale pink carnations. Her gift was a silver filigree bracelet studded with pearls.

Bill Rice, only brother of the bride, attended the groom as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where some 30 guests were received by Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Howlett, who had come from Victoria for the occasion.

The room was daintily decorated in pink and white. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table which was covered by a beautiful linen cloth with deep crocheted border. This was one of and berries, brought to a close a very jolly evening.

Christmas parcels of goodies will be forwarded by the Vernon Business and Professional Women to two sister clubs in Great Britain, arrangements being in the hands of Mrs. Melville Beaven.

several lovely pieces sent by Mrs. George White, aunt of the groom. A toast to the bride was given by her grandfather, W. H. Rice, and responded to by the groom.

During the reception, a telegram was read from Mr. and Mrs. George White, of Mill Bay, Vancouver Island.

Mr. Howlett is a University of B.C. graduate in electrical engineering and holds a position at Terrace, where the couple will make their home. They left that evening for Jasper. Mrs. Howlett chose a pale blue wool suit with matching hat and black accessories and carried an offwhite shag top coat.

Hang Clothing for Health

Parents who have difficulty teaching children to be the tidy and to hang up their discarded clothing, now have the support of the Department of National Health and Welfare. In a bulletin, the health authorities say that it is necessary to hang clothing which has been worn, so that it will air thoroughly. Due to the perspiration and body odor worn clothing absorbs, this is a matter of health concern. The department also approves of frequent washing, pressing and brushing of clothing.

United Church Teachers Hold Convention In City

On Thursday of last week in the Vernon United Church, the Kamloops-North Okanagan Sunday School Teachers' Convention was held with representatives from the various church schools. G. S. Dawe, of Vernon, was in the chair as president.

The convention opened at 4 p.m. with a devotional by Mrs. Pickering, of Lumby. Taking as her topic, "Ye are the Light of the World," the speaker stressed the need of every light shining to give direction to the lives of children along the ways of Christian living. Her inspiring talk set a high tone for the convention.

Money and Missions

Mrs. F. E. Runnalls, of Armstrong, dealt with "Missionary Education in Our Church Schools." To her, the essence of Christianity was missions, and that it was essential for contributors to have a knowledge of how their money was being spent. But missions meant far more than the giving of money, it should be accompanied by a sincere desire to tell others the good news of the Gospel, said Mrs. Runnalls.

Rev. Robert Morris, newly-appointed field secretary for boys' work in B.C., was the next speaker, who stressed the importance of Sunday School work throughout the entire world as the only way to permanent peace among the peoples and nations of a mistrusting world.

Under the convensership of Mrs. Gordon Douglas, supper was served from 5:30 to 6:30. About 50 persons enjoyed this hour of fellowship. Rev. G. W. Payne extended greetings to all present.

Interesting Pictures

The next half hour was taken by William Niles, of Vernon, who is the convener of the visual education committee. With the aid of a projector and slides, he gave a very interesting traveltogue of the United Church mission boats that ply the Pacific coast. It was extremely interesting to see the tiny villages where the mission boats call on their round trip of some 2,000 miles. A double interest was centred around the pictures in the knowledge that Mr. Niles had taken those pictures when he travelled this coast a few years ago.

After a brief devotional by Mr. Norman, of Armstrong, Mrs. Dawe, of Vernon, gave a very instructive talk on "Lesson Preparation." At the outset the speaker gave the aim of every Sunday School teacher as three—

- (1) Bring the scholar to Christ;
- (2) Build him up in Christ;
- (3)

Personality From Good Health

The health factor in personality is the theme of an announcement from Ottawa, where the health authorities of the Department of National Health and Welfare point out that a pleasing personality presupposes tip-top health. The fit person is more likely to be cheerful, full of life and, above all, tactful, the doctors say. Hence health is essential for success in human relations.

Manslaughter Verdict

jury and the judge. He also explained that it was his duty to review the evidence, but that his view of the evidence should not necessarily prevail with the jury. It was their duty to decide on the facts of the evidence and to accept the judge's interpretation of the points of law concerned.

"A Reasonable Doubt"

First, the Chief Justice dealt with "reasonable doubt."

"If there is a reasonable doubt as between murder and manslaughter, the benefit of the doubt must be given the accused and the verdict be manslaughter. A reasonable doubt in the law means what would ordinarily apply—a doubt founded on reason."

Next came the distinction between circumstantial and direct evidence: the former "like a picture puzzle" and the latter, evidence of a person who has seen the act. Both types were presented in this case.

With Malice

Then the Chief Justice dwelt on the legal definitions of murder. Murder must be "culpable," that is, the killing of a person by an unlawful act. Features which would make the killing culpable are intention of the accused and malice on his part. Malice according to the law was not the generally accepted idea of "hatred," but a wrongful act done principally without just cause or excuse. The Crown must prove malice, usually by implication, to the extent that "you are satisfied the act was intentional and that it was unprovoked."

"There can be no doubt that the deceased was killed by being shot by the accused," said Chief Justice Farris, referring to the evidence of the police and ballistics experts and to the admission of the fact by the defence.

Next, the Chief Justice discussed the three defences raised by counsel for the accused: insanity, provocation and drunkenness. If the man were judged insane at the time the act was committed, he would be acquitted. Insanity before the law means being under natural incapacity or disease of the mind to such an extent as to render him incapable of appreciating the quality and nature of the act and of knowing such an act was wrong.

In using the defence of insanity, the defence must give reasonable proof, in contrast to the fact that the burden of proof is on the Crown generally to prove guilt.

At this point, Chief Justice Farris made the most impassioned and vehement portion of his address to the jury.

Chief counsel for the defence referred in very definite terms that this was one of the cases of the eternal triangle and of the provocation arising therefrom. Our country does not recognize that unwritten law, except under certain circumstances,—"that in family difficulties, one party or another party may take the law in its own hands and kill one party or the other, and I trust that law will never enter our British jurisprudence."

"A mere delusion of marital trouble, or if it were in fact true, does not in our country give one person the right to kill another."

Provocation

Continuing his charge, Chief Justice Farris dealt with provocation and drunkenness, points which had special bearing on the manslaughter verdict later returned by the jury. Lack of proof of provocation by the Crown, or reasonable proof of drunkenness by the defence, would mean that the charge could be reduced from murder to manslaughter.

The Chief Justice outlined several factors which would be considered as provocation: if the act were committed "in the heat of passion caused by sudden provocation"; if a wrongful act or insult occurred "sufficient to deprive an ordinary person of his self-control"; if a person acted on the sudden and before there was time for his passion to cool; if the accused had a legal right to commit the act, as in self defence.

It was pointed out that provocation had to occur right at the time of the killing. The two years of mental anguish of Luxton should be kept in mind, said Chief Justice Farris, only in considering it, added to the accused's actions.

"Regardless of these (previous) acts there must have been at the time of the killing, there and then, some act of provocation."

Drunkenness cannot be used as an excuse for crime, he continued. "If you find the accused was suffering from drunkenness, then this does not entitle him to be acquitted if in his state of mind he is capable of forming the intention of an act leading to killing."

The burden of proof of drunkenness was on the defence, said Chief Justice Farris.

He then pointed out "one important discrepancy" in evidence of the witnesses. It concerned testimony of Mrs. Williamson, who was present at the time of the shooting, and of Luxton himself.

Luxton had told that Lane had advanced toward him, grabbed him by the waist and said, "You, in a menacing manner just before the first shot was fired. Mrs. Williamson, at the door of the house, did not report hearing or seeing this. It is important that you first determine whose statement you will believe," advised Chief Justice Farris.

Tribute to Mrs. Williamson

Mrs. Williamson appeared as "a timid person" in court, he continued, "but one who on the night of the events was most cool, so that a tribute is coming to Mrs. Williamson from me, speaking from the bench, whether her evidence be accepted or not."

Again he emphasized that the jury must decide for themselves which evidence they were to accept. This was important because if they accepted Mrs. Williamson's story "you must forget all acts of provocation," because no act of provocation occurred at the time of the shooting.

The Chief Justice pointed out that she had not been cross-questioned by the defence in an effort to check or break down her evidence.

If Luxton's story were to be accepted, then the question of him "being in liquor" must allow a manslaughter verdict, or Lane's menacing manner might be considered as provocation. If this immediate provocation were allowed, then the jury could also consider previous provocation as a background.

However, the Chief Justice pointed out that the doctor's testimony showed the first bullet wound in the stomach would not have caused death. Three other wounds, in the head, either of which the doctor said would cause instant death, were presumed fired about 30 minutes later.

"If the accused had no provocation at the time of the first shot, did he have time to cool off before one of the other shots that killed Lane? That is a matter for you to determine," said Chief Justice Farris.

If the accused's statements were not true, but "made up to assist the defence," it would point to sanity, said the Chief Justice. Further on the sanity question he said, "Dr. Campbell's evidence was based largely on accepting as true the statements made by accused to him, and Dr. McKay's evidence was pretty nearly based on his long experience dealing with mental cases."

If Mrs. Williamson's evidence were accepted there could be no possible question of accident or misadventure, said Chief Justice Farris.

"The Crown's indication is that this is a cold, premeditated and planned action," he continued, reviewing the Crown contention that Luxton had received word on August 25 that he had lost his suit against Lane for alienation of affection; had made his will on the 26th and "the next day loads the car with these two death dealing instruments and starts for Armstrong." On the other hand, the defence had argued that Luxton had come up to inquire about the health of his wife and to again attempt a reconciliation.

Bewitchin', What?

If you belong to the old school, you've probably done your Halloween bobbing, particularly for apples, in a bucket of water, but in Florida, Halloween bobbing is done differently. Here, visitor Virginia Burkhalter tries the southern state's unique method of bobbing for oranges. Her reward? Why, the juicy orange, of course.

For the first time in his charge the Chief Justice dealt lightly with one point of evidence. He referred to the Crown's suggestion that Luxton had gone to the ranch about 11 o'clock at night because he "expected Lane and Mrs. Luxton would be retired and there would be no one else around, because farm people usually retire early."

"It has been so long since I was on the farm," said Chief Justice Farris, with a smile, "I can't be sure of the time they would go to bed."

Concluding his address, he said, "Our own feelings are not to enter into this matter. We are all here to do our duty. I therefore admonish you that you follow the definitions of the law I have given you. Keep in mind that you find facts in accord with the record."

After the jury filed out, Mr. Lindsay asked that the point about the first bullet not causing death be reviewed and that the jury be given further instruction on the amount of liquor Luxton might have consumed. Mr. Munroe suggested further explanation on the degree of proof necessary by the defence in regard to insanity.

The jury was brought back and the Chief Justice told them, "The only evidence of misadventure (accident, which might reduce the charge to manslaughter) is in respect to the first shot or explosion (according to the doctor's evidence), death was not caused by that particular shot."

How Much Liquor?

The Chief Justice also said he had suggested that Luxton had slightly over a pint of liquor at the Legion Centre before the shooting.

"There is no evidence as to what size drinks he had outside."

In regard to the defence's need for proof of insanity or drunkenness, he said it should be of such an extent that "as reasonable men upon a preponderance of evidence you are satisfied that the accused was insane or drunk as the case may be." In contrast to the burden of proof on the Crown "beyond any reasonable doubt," the defence did not require that degree of proof in regard to liquor or insanity.

Further Advice

The jury retired at 12:20. About an hour later they returned to ask direction on two questions: If a man were insane at the time of the act, could he be found guilty of any act? The answer was that he could not be. If the accused was drunk, could he be found guilty of any crime? He could be found guilty of manslaughter.

About an hour and a half later, the jury came in to give its verdict.

"We find the accused guilty of manslaughter and attach a strong recommendation of mercy," said Ernest S. Pryce, foreman.

"As that is your verdict I must accept it. It is my duty to forward your recommendation of leniency. The jury is dismissed," said Chief Justice Farris.

The trial was over.

Kamloops School District Likely to Show Deficit

KAMLOOPS.—Warning that its accounts will likely show a deficit at the year's end was given to rural ratepayers by trustees of Kamloops Large Municipal School District No. 24 in the report presented to the annual school meetings held throughout the district last week.

Amount of the deficit is not stated. The figure will not be known until the accounts are closed at the end of the fiscal year. Whatever the deficit is, it will be carried forward to 1948 and so will be part of next year's school tax.

Organization

Kamloops Municipal District No. 24 came into existence by order-in-council April, 1946. In October of that year a brief report was made for the few months of operation.

By December 31, 1947, we shall have completed our first full year of operation under the new system and while we started out in the new year 1947 with various projects in mind, we were forced by circumstances beyond our control to abandon same until such time as conditions are more favorable. However, further on in this report you will find a review of those things accomplished by the board to date.

Finances

For the year 1947 the board of trustees estimated the sum of $269,944 would be required for the year's operation and this sum was requisitioned. Of this amount, $117,500 comprises government grants, leaving a balance of $152,345 to be obtained from the city and rural areas in the following proportions: city portion 45 percent or $68,555.25, rural portion, 55 percent or $83,789.75. This is equivalent to 9.48 mills.

The Goldenberg Report was instrumental in relieving the total amount of the levy by $9,575.

KNOW YOUR TREES

Engelmann Spruce
(Picea Engelmanni)

A coniferous tree occurring in the interior of the province, preferring land moist from springs, seepage or overflow. Of merchantable size at middle and lower elevations, stunted or depressed at timber line. Occupies plateau sites in southern interior, gradually approaching valley floors as you progress north. In dense stands, reaches height of from 80 to 135 feet and diameter from 18 to 36 inches. At high altitudes is often only 2 to 4 feet high.

Similar to White Spruce, the two may be cut together without distinguishing them. Suitable for pulp wood, cooperage, sounding boards in pianos, violins and normal lumber products.

Dance Saves Enderby From Usual Hallowe'en Pranks

ENDERBY, Nov. 3.—Little serious damage was reported in Enderby over Hallowe'en this year. No extra police staff was put on and most of those who might have been playing pranks on local residents, spent the greater portion of the evening enjoying dancing at the Pythian Sisters' dance in the K. of P. Hall.

A few residents reported that gates and other household effects had been removed from the premises, but on the whole, the damage was small. Cliff Street, which has been known as the usual pranks' headquarters, was undisturbed.

The younger members of town did little in the way of ringing of doorbells and asking for the usual "trick or treat." A few masked younger folk arrived at the homes just past the supper hour and gathered a small supply of nuts, candies, apples and oranges.

All At Dance

This year, the activity centred in the K. of P. Hall where all age groups enjoyed a Hallowe'en party sponsored by the local P.T.A. group. Children of all age groups, dressed in a most varied line of costumes, gathered at the hall at 7 p.m. Many of the costumes were especially well designed, and showed some clever ideas and hours of toil put into their making.

As soon as the doors of the hall opened, ghosts, witches, bunnies, Bo-Peeps and pirates, and many others streamed into the hall. There were costumed couples and costumed babies, costumed six-year-olds and costumed 16-year-olds. Miniature brides and grooms, no more than two and a half years old, stared with wide eyes at all the queer surroundings.

Little pirates of four watched solemnly while the others marched. One two-year-old Hiawatha, with brown chunky bare shoulders, decided the affair was not to his liking. With tiny bow and arrow slung over his shoulders and large tears streaming down his face it was more than he could do to uphold the honor of the brave he was representing.

"Nightmare" For Judges

The first portion of the program was well enjoyed when Rev. C. G. MacKenzie screened a comic show for the children. Upon the hearty applause of the audience, another educational film was screened through Miss L. Profit and Miss Charlotte McMechan supplied piano accompaniment and Mr. Henderson was master of ceremonies, as each age group marched around the hall before the judges, who had a "nightmare" of a job to decide the winners.

Taxi Stands Get One Car Parking Space

KAMLOOPS.—Taxi stands on Victoria Street have been limited to reserved parking space for one taxi only, Mayor Fred W. Scott advised city council last week. The limits of the reserved space have been plainly marked on the curb by the application of yellow paint.

When council was discussing the second application it was reported that the "No Parking" signs at taxi stands have a habit of wandering from their assigned position so that the reserved space becomes enough for two or more taxis.

Mayor Scott and the councillors indicated they took upon this practice as a deliberate flouting of city authority; they intend to take appropriate action if occasion arises. It was made clear during the discussion on "No Parking" signs that all such privileges presently in force are purely temporary; it is the intention to cancel all these reservations when the new traffic bylaw is enacted. Subsequently, each application will be considered on its individual merits.

Kelowna Sends First of Fruit Gift to Britain

First shipment of food from the people of Kelowna and district residents of Great Britain in order that they may celebrate the forthcoming marriage of Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten was to be shipped from the Okanagan Valley the first of this week.

This was revealed by His Worship Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games last Thursday when he stated the drive will probably near the $7,000 mark when all money is turned into campaign headquarters—approximately $2,000 over the minimum objective. Mayor Hughes-Games was gratified over the way the people of the Kelowna district responded to the appeal, and stated there will be a minimum delay in getting the food shipments off to the Old Country.

Mayor Hughes-Games stated the Kelowna and district contribution will consist of about 1,200 cases of canned fruit in heavy syrup. Arrangements have been made with packinghouses to release various types of canned fruit such as apricots, peaches, prunes, etc., and in addition to this consent, the carload lot will be made up of approximately 800 cases of apple juice.

In explaining why the purchasing committee had decided on the shipment of canned fruit, Mr. Hughes-Games pointed out that other parts of Canada are planning on shipping canned meat, etc., and that the Okanagan will be one of the few centres shipping canned fruit to the Old Country.

He stated that approximately $5,300 is now on hand, but when the contributions are received from Armstrong and other points, it is expected the campaign will reach the $7,000 mark.

Each can will be labelled with the words "Gift to the people of Britain on the occasion of the wedding of H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten from the people of Armstrong and district, Kelowna and district, in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, Canada."

Mr. Stephens stated that the ration board in the Old Country is co-operating in the distribution of the articles, thus making sure they go to needy people. "The food is being shipped to the Overseas Gift Allocation Centre of the Ministry of Food," Mr. Stephens stated, "as this government department will know where the food is most needed."

Following the testimony of the doctors, the Chief Justice asked Mr. Lindsay if his remaining evidence was not more or less of a formal nature?

Lawful Act

Chief Justice Farris continued, the man was doing an act that was within the law and that was not dangerous, but he did use force that caused this unknown condition to take place. He called the incident a "misadventure, a shocker, but mere shock is not enough to convict the accused. We cannot convict people because we are shocked and disgusted with their actions."

Mr. Lindsay stated he would call no further witnesses.

In directing the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal, Chief Justice Farris said that "upon all these facts, in view of the doctors' evidence, it is my opinion in law that the accused is not guilty of the offence. My direction to you is to bring in a verdict of 'not guilty.'" The accused was discharged.

Members of the jury were: William S. Atkinson, of Vernon, foreman; J. H. Hildahl, J. Gregory, Ernest R. Bradley, Earl K. Ward, all of Vernon; William R. Hutchinson and Thomas J. A. Baird, both of Enderby; Gerald I. Dainard, of Kelowna.

Summerland Jealous Of Its Trees, Too

SUMMERLAND.—Last week one of the two contentious trees on Hastings Street outside the W. D. Laidlaw property, was removed by municipal workmen.

This action was taken by municipal workmen on advice of the municipal council. These trees have been the subject of much altercation between the council, Mr. Laidlaw and J. S. Soderberg, of the Capitol Motors, which business is situated on the lot adjoining the Laidlaw property.

Mr. Soderberg approached the council and requested removal of this tree as it would endanger his new cement sidewalk. This sidewalk, in front of the Capitol Motors, would come within nine to 10 inches of the tree, he stated, and the tree roots would "ruin the end of his walk."

Foreman E. Kercher was asked by the council if this statement were true and he replied in the affirmative.

Acting Reeve Eric Tait pointed out that Mr. Laidlaw had been warned on a previous occasion that the tree or trees would have to be removed if they interfered with sidewalk construction.

Councillor C. E. Bentley then moved, seconded by Councillor F. E. Atkinson that the tree be removed. Councillor Wilson refrained from voting, stating that he would not take any further part in the tree controversy as the council had not seen fit to follow his suggestion when the tree question was first broached.

Grouch Should See Doctor

The well, and well-poised, person has all emotions under control, is calm and not easily disturbed. So says the Department of National Health and Welfare, chronic crossness and irritability is a sure sign of poor health, and the person who persistently "files off the handle" should see the family doctor. While admitting that everyone has "off-days," the health authorities declare that no one should be grouchy all the time.

Why "Bill 39" IS LABOR'S BILL OF RIGHTS

The right to strike... after responsibility to the public has been discharged and after a secret ballot: That is what British Columbia's labor legislation (Bill 39) guarantees to labor.

But it guarantees more than the basic right to strike.

It provides that before a strike can legally be called, there must be in the interest of all concerned:

- (a) Negotiation in good faith between employer and employees' representatives: (An employer who does not bargain in good faith can be charged in court and fined).
- (b) A period of conciliation with representatives of the Department of Labor attempting to reconcile the difference:
- (c) A conciliation board acting as mediator; and, if no settlement is reached
- (d) A government-supervised secret ballot of employees affected to determine whether or not they want to take strike action.

THE ONLY THING NEW IN THIS PROCEDURE IS THE SUPERVISED SECRET BALLOT ON STRIKE ACTION.

It is a reform designed to free labor from the possibility of pressure and intimidation that can exist where there is open, show-of-hands balloting, often at small, unrepresentative meetings where a minority could impose its wishes on the rank and file.

It brings the democratic secret ballot to employees faced with a critical decision.

Remembrance

As more and more of the terrible details of the last war come to the general knowledge of Canadians, the extent of our indebtedness to the men and women of the armed services becomes ever more clearly apparent.

Enough has been revealed since conclusion of hostilities to show how narrow was the gap between victory and defeat and how tragic indeed would the price of defeat have been.

Right up to the conclusion of hostilities too many Canadians discounted the reports of life and living or dying under the Germans and Japanese. "Mere propaganda," was a frequent curt dismissal of the subject. Today the evidence is too plain, its implications too clear, to be thus dismissed.

From 1939 to 1945, the Allied armies, air forces and fleets—frequently ill prepared—faced nothing less than a pagan, satanic revolt. No one, not even the most cynical of us, can fail to be profoundly moved by the undemonstrative, factual reports of conditions found in the countries occupied by the Germans, Japanese and their satellites.

In Canada, reminders of the war are difficult to find. Here and there an abandoned camp, an occasional uniform, a tattered Victory Loan poster. Our attention to the problems of day-to-day living have all but obliterated from our eyes and minds what remains of the physical side of war.

Certainly there are other signs, but they must be sought out. As Canadians pause next Tuesday, Remembrance Day, members of some 30,000 households will feel the sharpest pangs. For that number of Canadians did not return. Add to these the total of more than 60,000 who died in the First World War and who are still remembered.

Remembrance Day is surely a fitting name for an annual observance of the two great world crises of our country. Yet the name can mean little unless its message is allowed to penetrate to the conscience. Remembrance Day is not a holiday, it is a day of observance and of dedication. A day to ponder on the debt that Canadians owe—and can never repay.

Nicely Done, Builders

That Vernon's building permits for the first ten months of the current year have passed the $1,000,000 mark in value is gratifying news indeed.

It is also significant news. During the war years when this city became little more than a garrison town, with the consequent outpouring of public money, not a few critics made quite free with predilections that Vernon would suffer seriously from the tremendous loss of army payrolls. That that contemplated disaster has in no way materialized is abundantly evident on every side in Vernon.

As the pace of army activity ebbed away, other avenues opened up. Not the least of these has been construction, which today stands as easily the largest single activity in this city.

The $1,000,000 turnover by the building trades has been accomplished with a minimum of civic, provincial, or national activity, or indeed of any very large industrial projects. Most of these have been postponed, but eventually they will go ahead. The financing has been entirely by savings or private borrowings, indicating a healthy reserve of funds accumulated during the war years.

One of the most valuable features of the program presently in progress is the construction of more than 100 self contained dwelling units. A large percentage of these will not be completed and occupied until the spring of next year, of course, but they should do much to relieve the desperate shortage of living space which has so plagued Vernon for almost a decade now.

Needed more than any other single requirement for Vernon are new houses for ownership and for rental. Progress has been seriously impeded locally—as it has elsewhere—by the utter dearth of homes. Vernon has lost potential industries and many desirable residents through failure to provide rental housing. Private enterprise, the building figures show, is doing a good job in remedying this defect.

This million dollar project has not as yet come on to the civic tax rolls except for such parcels of land as have been privately acquired or purchased from the city a year or more ago. All of this vast project, however, will become taxbearing from the first of the New Year. Acquisition of this handsome addition may well form the basis for some small civic celebration and in any event the money to be gained should prove extremely useful when the budget has to be balanced for 1948.

Good Work

The spectacle of two of Vernon's leading institutions, the City Council and the Board of Trade, co-operating energetically in securing the new housing development is a thoroughly heartening sight. Not that the Council and the Board have not in the past acted in concert on many occasions and to the benefit of the community, but this is a development of special significance.

They Will Come Home

*It does not matter where their bodies lie,
In jungle forest, or in desert sand,
On foreign soil, or wide green oceans far,
Or, haply, England's green and pleasant land.
Don't grieve because you cannot laurels lay
Upon some spot of earth so far away.
They fought for freedom, and themselves made free.*

Their spirits wing straight home, to you and me.

FLORENCE HUMPHREYS

Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, 1947.

It is clear now that Vernon will have 100 brand new homes available for veterans and after them for ordinary families, barring totally unexpected developments. The Okanagan's famous climate is now the deciding factor in the date of commencement of construction and also of completion. If the early winter is not so severe as to stop preliminary work, then the houses stand an excellent chance of being ready in the spring; otherwise not until summer.

The wholehearted and open manner in which the Council and the various civic departments have received the representations of the Board and of the Canadian Legion in this matter of housing is entirely meritorious. The will to get on with the job has been as keen as could be. By taking this action, the Council has removed what might well have been a source of bitterness and friction for years to come. But, and this is the important thing, Vernon is to have better housing for its veterans' families and for the community as a whole.

Singing in the Tub

Comes now a Prof. Vern O. Knudsen to tell you why it is you like to sing while taking a bath—if you do, which we hope you don't.

"A bathroom is acoustically like the biggest pipe on an organ," says the professor, who teaches physics at the University of California at Los Angeles. "It reverberates and enriches the singer's voice and makes him think he sounds like Caruso."

The professor's academic specialty happens to be the science of sounds. It might be supposed that gives his explanation a solid base of authority. Yet we can't help wondering whether Professor Knudsen actually belongs to the brotherhood of bathtub singers. Because our well-tested theory is that people sing in bathtubs simply because they feel like it, and without a thought of acoustics.

If they considered acoustics and the public welfare outside their small quarters, they probably wouldn't indulge in the practice at all. Few of them are virtuosos. And we admire the whole tribe of them to heed the declaration of Mark Twain that "I am saddest when I sing—and so are those who hear me."—Kansas City Times.

"Most Anything"

By STUART FLEMING

As I have remarked in this column before, there is some remarkably interesting information to be found in the two and three line fillers which occupy the left over space at the foot of a news column. Over a period of time the reader could add greatly to his store of knowledge by devoting his attention to the fillers. Presumably all the information they contain has been checked and verified by somebody at sometime or other.

(Before I go any further with this stuff, I wish to pause and apologize to the linotype operator for my copy. There is a lot of unnecessary white-space showing through it, but that is because my typewriter is misbehaving. For some reason or other it is creating spaces between letters that are not intended to be separated by spaces according to the accepted rules of etymology. I could resort to pencil or pen, I suppose, but that, I assure you, would only make matters worse. There just isn't anything I can do about it until I get this perverse machine to a repairman. Now, back to the subject in hand, whatever it was.)

Fillers. As I was saying, these are useful little devices which printers use to plug what might otherwise be empty spaces in a form of type. A form of type is the thing that prints this and the other pages in this newspaper. That just about exhausts my knowledge of that particular department of newspaper production and I am probably liable to correction on what little I have said. But digression sets in again. Back to the fillers.

Last week a filler on page five of this newspaper informed us: "The largest type of animal that ever lived on earth, the blue whale, still exists today." This, I didn't know. In fact, I had never even given it much thought. The filler encouraged some reflection on the subject of whales in general. Ordinarily, people don't think about whales enough. Whales, which are mammals just like people, don't generally associate with people. This goes to prove that a whale is a lot smarter than you might at first have thought. So far as I have been able to ascertain, whenever whales do associate with people the whales come out second best. That's enough to make a whale blubber. That, in fact, is enough.

It's the kind of stuff I serve up in this space every week that gives people the idea that writing a newspaper column is easy. I wish to differ. I am having a very difficult time getting this thing written this week, as you should have been able to guess long before now. My best columns are written when I am miles from a typewriter. By the time I do get to a typewriter I have forgotten what it was that was so good. I am glad I am not Mr. Elmore Philpott, who has to write one every day. I do, though, envy him his facility for making his readers so angry that they want him hanged, drawn and quartered, or so happy that they would like to have him king. Certainly, no reader can remain indifferent to Mr. Philpott. So far as I am concerned, I am pretty sure that by and large my readers don't give a damn. Well, I don't for you either, so let's not discuss it further.

I strongly suspect that the people who promote community, provincial or national good works keep in their files two or three form letters which contain all the time-tested, over-used and done-to-death phrases which are supposed to spur the members of their own and other organizations to greater and higher achievement of their various purposes.

First of all, whatever it is they are proposing is a "worthwhile project" or a "worthy project." It is "urgently required," "vitality needed" and "of utmost necessity." Among other things, "you cannot afford to let it down." You probably can't afford to keep it up, either.

"Your generous support" is undoubted. "Your immediate reaction to this long felt want" is unquestioned. "Your substantial contributions" will be "immediately forthcoming."

"The time for action is now." The word "now" is generally capitalized, underlined and followed by at least five exclamation marks. You are not expected to get away with doing this thing at your leisure, or when it best suits your convenience. Not a chance. "You cannot afford to delay."

"I am sure that all of you are fully aware of the exceptional merits of this worthwhile cause and I know that I count on you to contribute your time, talents, energy and money to ensure that our objective will go over the top with a bang." I do not know how many times I have heard that sentence used, but each time I hear it now I watch the speaker very attentively in the firm belief that he will be struck by lightning. So far, he never has, but doubtless there will be countless further opportunities for observation so I do not lose hope.

In the meantime, let us rally round, put our backs to the wheel, keep our chins up, exert every effort, strive to the utmost of our energy and not relax until the glorious goal for which we strive has been crowned by radiant success.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

The world is headed for a severe economic crisis. That is the plain meaning of the warnings issued by President Truman, Sir Stafford Cripps and lesser prophets.

The difference between 1929 and 1947 is that we have learned a lot from bitter experience. We could escape disaster.

More and more people are aware of the real villain in the impending crisis. It is the so-called "dollar famine," which results from "money madness."

Suppose that all the world had one money system.

Suppose that every nation in the world was using a stabilized world currency. We would still have severe economic troubles. There is, right now, a physical shortage of food, supplies, tools, machinery and buildings. Even under an ideal government—established by the Archangel Gabriel—hundreds of millions of people would have to endure hardship for quite a while.

But the crux of the crisis is money.

Take Canada. If you consider our world trade as a whole, we are doing fine. We are balancing what we buy with what we sell. But if you consider our trade with our big neighbor, the U.S.A., we are headed straight for monetary disaster. We are buying from Uncle Sam twice as much as we are selling to Uncle Sam. That means we must soon either borrow about one billion U.S. dollars, or drastically cut imports from U.S.

Britain is in the same boat as Canada in regard to trade with U.S. But maybe it is misleading to say "in the same boat." For no matter how bad a smash comes, Canada has the food, fuel and other ingredients to keep her own people in physical prosperity. The British people would literally half-starve unless they were able to import. And they cannot continue to import unless they have some way of paying for imports.

Lesson from Antiquity

Archaeology is thought of by large hordes of our citizens as a stuffy science practiced by bearded fogies who dig up the insufferably dull remains of antique civilizations that nobody cares about.

We think that the well-known man in the street will be interested, however, in something that was uncovered at the site of the old town square in Athens by a group of eager diggers from the American School of Classical Studies. It is a piece of pottery, dating from the fifth century before Christ, and it bears the inscription, "Leave the saw under the threshold."

Here we have a link between today's average man and the average man of antiquity. As we reconstruct it, Solpso, something of an Attic Dagwood, has lent his saw to Lucius, the come-strip neighbor, who promises to return it that afternoon. Meanwhile, Solpso departs for the office where he is employed to think up fraternity names, and leaves the note in regard to the saw. While he is away from home, Greece suddenly becomes Ancient Illyria, and the note is left for the archaeologists to find.

This is the sort of thing that archaeologists should find more of, as it induces a sense of history which fosters discovery and progress. We like it because we have a sneaking feeling that, seven centuries from now someone stumbling upon the ruins of our modest cottage may find there nothing to evoke our presence except, perhaps, a miraculously preserved message.

"Dear—Have gone to Marge's for bridge. Hamburger in ice box. Don't forget lonely washer in bathroom and if laundry man comes look in vase on mantel for $1.25."—Kansas City Star.

To Keep Straight in 1948

A game that two can play at was invented by an anonymous Edwardsville (Ill.) sloganster when he proposed for the 1948 Presidential campaign: "Let's not go daff over Taft; let's not grow hard with Hartley; let's not go sawney with Dewey; let's stick to Truman, he's human."

It would be just as easy to sloganize: "Forget Truman, he lacks acumen; fore and aft, the best man's Taft; a man among men, and we don't mean partly. Representative Fred A. Hartley—let things go bloozy, vote for Dewey." It would be just as empty, too.

How about, instead: "Forget the Slogan and Pick the Man?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Mr. Ernest Bevin is often like a bull in a china shop. When he said the real trouble with the world was that huge pile of gold buried in Fort Knox, Kentucky, he failed to make clear what he meant. But actually he put a clumsy finger directly on what is wrong. The real trouble in the world today is that the United States is not buying from the outside world as much as she is selling to the outside world.

The U.S. is selling to other countries more than a billion dollars' worth of goods per month over and above what she is buying from the outside world.

We can never hope to get the world back on even keel until all nations recognize the elementary fact that if you want to go on selling you have to be willing to buy back something or other.

In the centuries when Britain and other countries of Western Europe were "top dog" in the world trade, they kept things going by investing their winnings in foreign countries.

The plain fact is that, so far, the U.S. has shown no willingness either to admit the necessary amount of foreign goods to balance accounts, nor to make adequate investments in foreign properties.

The London Chamber of Commerce now proposes a simple but sound scheme to compel nations to buy as much as they sell. As each nation sold something abroad it would be credited with the proper amount of "world money." But this "world money" could only be used for making purchases from other countries.

Money experts will recall that this is much the same plan as advocated by the late Lord Keynes. He called the world money "Bancor."

Each nation could get "Bancor" by selling something abroad. If it wished, it could sell gold for Bancor. But the most important point in Keynes' plan was that no nation COULD SELL BANCOR FOR GOLD. It had to buy goods.

Queer Muddle

Honorable R. C. MacDonald's department of municipal affairs has practically told city governments they must charge more taxes on War-time-type homes. The effect, of course, will be a rent-increase to the war-veteran tenants.

In Kamloops and Kelowna War-time homes are under construction even though the "enabling bylaws" have not yet been approved by Mr. MacDonald's department. If the approval is entirely withheld, a strange and complex situation will develop, with the veterans on the short end of the stick. Either the houses won't be available, or they'll be at higher rentals than have heretofore been charged for similar homes.

Mr. MacDonald presumably believes he is acting in the interests of the municipal treasuries and the municipal taxpayers by requiring that the part-tax provision now be ended. His justification seems to be a section of the Goldenberg Report where it is recommended that municipal governments be forbidden to make gifts of tax-concessions.

Mr. MacDonald's supervisory and veto power over municipalities is not subject to question; if he persists he must win. Even so, Kamloops city council is right in its decision not to accede to his wishes.

To bow meekly to Mr. MacDonald's edict would be to abdicate the right of the ratepayers of Kamloops to manage their own affairs, within the limitation of reasonable supervisory or advisory interference by the provincial government.

To accede to Mr. MacDonald's department's thinly-veiled order would be to break a contract made, by implication, with the home-hungry war veterans.

Kamloops Council does well to decide to die by its gun. Mr. MacDonald faces a Pyrrhic victory. There's one thing more to be said. Here is a situation where the people of Canada—in the guise of three forms of government—are at loggerheads with themselves.

As Canadians we've ordered the establishment of a crown-company to provide low rental housing for ourselves as war veterans. As British Columbians we say through a department of our provincial government we can't as citizens of Kamloops, contribute to this "worthy project," in the form of a remission of taxes even though we want to.

No wonder the Russians believe our democratic muddle can't long exist.—Kamloops Sentinel.

Letters OF GENERAL INTEREST

Goshawks vs. Pheasants

Editor, The Vernon News; Sir:

About the vanishing pheasant I am eager to help solve the problem.

If you ask me, it is not all the fault of the hunters that the pheasants are scarcer every year. As I live on the L. & A. Ranch, I saw the hawk hunting this valuable game bird throughout the summer.

Last year I estimated the number of hen pheasants to be about 150, while this year it will be around 50, or approximately one-third that of last year on the same section.

Every day as I cross the field in the Jeep I can see a fresh kill and every hen that gets killed by a hawk leaves the nest to be lost.

It is estimated that the goshawk kills one pheasant a day. It is also understood that the Game Association values one pheasant at $1.75. Would it be hard to figure how much loss one goshawk will cause to the pheasant population during one summer? Yet he should not be killed till the first of December because someone might shoot a would-be-goshawk hawk by mistake.

If hunters cannot resist shooting off glass insulators on power lines, or plugging traffic signs, there is little hope of keeping them from shooting good hawks unless bounties will be increased on the goshawks to $5, and no closed season. We will have nothing but good hawks and the main question will be, "What are the hawks good for?" Yours for better hunting,

JACK SPELAY,

R.R. 3, Vernon, B.C.

Food for Britain

Editor, The Vernon News; Sir:

Referring to my letter of October 27 on the above subject, judging from the number of enquiries I have received since its publication, I am indeed gratified to find it to be a matter of such general interest.

May I add a few words to those kindly people who are sending parcels. Please don't forget the postman, that faithful servant who in all weather delivers the parcels. He is not blessed with a car as in Canada, but oftentimes has to walk or ride a bicycle many miles, particularly so in country districts. One can well imagine his feeling when he delivers a large parcel of good food, whilst he himself is subsisting on starvation rations.

I would suggest that either a small gift of food for him be sent in the parcel, or a small additional parcel addressed to the recipient be sent, but in either case that it be marked "For the Postman."

Protest Reporting of Recital

Editor, The Vernon News; Sir:

The local Girl Guide Association, as sponsors of a recital brought to Vernon on Wednesday, October 22, wish to protest the reporting of this concert which appeared in The Vernon News on Thursday, October 30.

We feel the heading was particularly unfortunate.

The piano, the very best procurable in Vernon, was very kindly loaned to us, and had been specially tuned to the artists' satisfaction, after being placed in the hall.

In view of the reports published by many other leading newspapers in cities, we are surprised that your reporter would have the assurance to give such a detailed adverse criticism. It is not encouraging for other organizations who might in the future wish to sponsor concerts.

It is regrettable that the audience was not larger, but the Association felt, contrary to The Vernon News, that those present were most appreciative and did enjoy the concert.

Yours sincerely,

(Miss) GRACE A. NICHOLS,

District Commissioner

(Mrs.) W. D. MCGAGGART,

President

(Mrs.) C. W. HUSBAND,

Secretary

Too Soon for Praise

It was certainly not the intention of Lt.-Col. W. Burton of the Salvation Army to suggest that there was little wrong with Canada's prison system, but his reported statement that "there is no better prison administration on the North American continent than the administration of Canada's prisons" is liable to give that erroneous impression. Perhaps he meant that the administration, by our prison officers, of the system such as it is, is very good.

The Canadian prison system has suffered from decades of neglect by the Department of Justice and the provincial governments. Lt.-Col. Burton, territorial prison secretary of the Salvation Army, undoubtedly knows of the notable progress of penal reform in Great Britain, and, if so, he is aware that Canada is a generation behind.

The report of Major General Gibson, Penitentiary Commissioner, made earlier this year, indicated the numerous minor reforms made in the penitentiaries since the Archambault report, and also showed more important reforms that remained to be made. These include the classification and segregation of prisoners, the careful selection and proper training of all officers and guards, the establishment of Borstal institutions for young offenders and many other necessary improvements. The public expects steady progress in carrying out this program.

The adoption of the probation system for adult prisoners, on a wide scale as in Britain, would save thousands of young men and young women every year from the serious taint of serving a jail sentence. Far the best way of securing this and other reforms, is through the centralized control of all penal institutions, including those now under the provinces, as recommended by the Archambault Commission.

Noblesse Oblige

To some Americans royalty and hereditary title spell only one thing: special privilege. Here is something for them to consider:

The daughter of a Spanish nobleman who long supported Franco, though he is now in the camp of the Spanish pretender, Don Juan, was married recently. Against the national background of widespread hunger and hardship, her $370,000 wedding, her $1,500,000 jewels, her magnificent wedding gifts, stood forth with conspicuous splendor.

Princess Elizabeth of England is also to be married. Against a national background in which there is plenty of hardship but less dire hunger than in Spain, her wedding will have conspicuous splendor. Her wedding will have conspicuous splendor. Her wedding will have conspicuous splendor. Her wedding will have conspicuous splendor.

It is evident that monarchy may come to symbolize democratic responsibility as well as feudal privilege.—Christian Science Monitor.

Mara Concert Well Received

MARA. Nov. 3.—On Thursday evening, October 30, Mara school children, under direction of their teacher, Miss Shirley Whipple, sponsored a short program in the Mara hall, the proceeds of which will go to the crippled children's fund. A substantial sum of money was realized.

The program opened with "O Canada," followed by the entire cast singing "Old MacDonald." Next was a recitation, "Curiosity," by Barbara Findley.

The Dutch dance which followed was cleverly done by Svea Johnson, Louise Kilt, David Bell, Marlene Witala, Peggy Robertson, Larlene Witala, Floyd Varchol and Elaine Koskimackie, all of whom were dressed in Dutch costumes.

Next was a recitation, "A Milk Shake," by Eileen Ludwig. The solo, "Save the Last Dance for Me" was beautifully sung by Sheila Kilt. Svea Johnson and Barbara Findley, accompanied by Louise Kilt, Svea Johnson and Barbara Findley. Acrobatics were performed by Floyd Varchol, David Bell, Alice Harkness, May Sutherland, Larry Callens and Jacqueline Carr. A recitation, "Three Little Pigs," was given by Svea Johnson, followed by a song, "Juanita," by Sheila Frances, with Louise Kilt, Allen and Peggy Robertson, Elaine Koskimackie, Marlene Witala, Floyd Varchol and Elaine Ludwig.

Next was a recitation, "Don't Go Out on Halloween," by Sheila Frances.

The outstanding feature of the evening was Marlene Witala and Elaine Koskimackie as two small playmates with their dolls, singing "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard." The two small girls were applauded so much the performance had to be repeated.

This was followed by two recitations, "The Gingerbread Man," by Louise Kilt, and "If I were Twins," by Elaine Koskimackie.

The last item on the program was a three-act play taken from the well-known book, "Little Women." This proved to be very interesting and was ably acted by the following: Beverly Screen, May Sutherland, Svea Johnson, Alice Harkness, Floyd Varchol, Sheila Frances and Eileen Ludwig. With the singing of "God Save the King" the performance was brought to a close, having proved most successful and created much pleasure for those attending.

Philip Witala and Ed Peterson motored up from Silverdale over the weekend, and were the guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Alina Witala.

Hallowe'en passed quietly this year in Mara. No damage was reported. Several parties were given and one or two bonfires added to the delight of the children.

Mrs. Keith Davy and her baby daughter, Margaret Lynn, arrived home last week, having spent three weeks in Grindrod with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lewis.

Mrs. John Makella and daughter Jeanette returned to their home in Vernon on Tuesday, having spent a short time here as the guests of Mrs. L. Makella.

May Prohibit More Garages On Kelowna Main Thoroughfare

KELOWNA.—City Council feels it would be to the public's interest to prohibit any further construction of garages and service stations on Bernard Avenue, but the public may be given an opportunity to express an opinion.

"Legally, we can do it, but morally we might be wrong," said Alderman O. L. Jones when it was suggested that the city act right away. Council voted requests that this matter was not discussed at the public meeting called recently to consider re-zoning of certain parts of the city.

Another meeting was suggested. Alderman Jones: "People owning property on Bernard Avenue should have something to say about it."

One of the main objections to such projects on Kelowna's main thoroughfare was the "inconvenience and danger" of sidewalk stalls, into garages and service station premises.

No action was taken until the city solicitor advised whether or

Medical Treatment for Vets Explained by DVA

Department of Veterans Affairs has issued the following answers to questions most frequently asked by B.C. veterans about medical treatment.

Q. As a veteran, just what medical treatment am I entitled to under D.V.A.?

A. In order to receive treatment it is necessary to qualify under one of several classes. Veterans who are discharged from the service direct to D.V.A. for treatment come under Class 2. Veterans having an honorable discharge are qualified for treatment for 365 days following discharge (Class 3). Veterans having pension entitlement may have treatment, for their pensionable condition only, for the rest of their lives (Class 1). Beyond these three main classes there are others which require a decision in each particular case.

Q. Why is a veteran eligible for treatment for only one year after discharge?

A. Class 3 treatment is health insurance for one year—after that time a veteran has had an opportunity to re-establish himself and his medical care is his own responsibility, as it is for any other civilian. However, treatment is extended over the year for veterans receiving training courses or those on treatment strength at the end of their post-discharge year.

Q. May a veteran be treated by his own doctor at D.V.A. expense?

A. Yes. There is free choice of doctors covering the 365 day period following discharge. Pensioners may only be treated by a doctor of their choice for pensioned conditions on D.V.A. authority.

Q. How and where do I apply for treatment?

A. If you are able, you should call at the D.V.A. medical report centre at 1231 Haro Street, Vancouver, or Belmont Bldg., Victoria, or apply to your own doctor elsewhere. Bring your discharge certificate and any other pertinent data with you.

Q. If a veteran is under treatment by his family doctor does that prevent him from going to a D.V.A. hospital?

A. No. Frequently the attending doctor refers a patient to Shaughnessy Hospital for further investigation or treatment. When he returns to his home town complete reports are forwarded to his own doctor so that any further treatment he requires may be continued. In most cases, D.V.A. prefers to have patients treated in departmental hospitals.

Q. Where does a veteran write for information regarding disability pension?

A. Canadian Pension Commission, Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver.

Q. Does D.V.A. provide maternity care for veterans' wives or medical treatment for their dependents?

A. No. Only qualified veterans are eligible for D.V.A. care.

Q. Does D.V.A. provide dental not the city had the power to impose such a restriction without first calling a public meeting.

Youth Killed In Gun "Play-Act"

KAMLOOPS.—Play-acting with a rifle caused the death late Friday of last week of Ronald Napoleon (Jimmy) Robillard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robillard, of Chase. Born July 2, 1932, the lad was in his sixteenth year.

He died near Monte Creek while being taken to Kamloops for medical attention, there not being a doctor at Chase since the death of Dr. Walter Scatchard. The main artery in his hip had been severed by the bullet. Competent persons believe that even if a doctor had been immediately available it would have been impossible to save the lad's life.

Funeral mass for his repose was conducted by Rev. Father Scott in Chase Catholic Church Wednesday of last week. Burial was in Chase cemetery.

Besides his parents, the boy is mourned by three sisters and two brothers, all younger; by another sister, Mrs. Rhona Baker of North Kamloops, and by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Bibby, of Burnaby.

An inquiry into the lad's death was held by the coroner, Dr. J. S. Burris, at Kamloops on October 28. Testimony on the accident was presented by Const. A. J. Sutherland, B.C. Police, of Chase, and by the lads who were with Jimmy Robillard when the fatality occurred: Paul Picha, 14, in whose hands the gun was at the time; George Picha, 18, and Johnny Anderson. Dr. Burris recorded the lad's death as "accidental."

Jimmy Robillard and Johnny Anderson had gone to Bear Creek to visit a relative of the former on Thursday, that day and Friday being school holidays on account of the teachers' convention at Kamloops.

They left Bear Creek about 4:30 on Friday, riding horses.

En route to Chase they met Paul and George Picha who had been grouse-hunting.

As they continued toward Chase, Jimmy Robillard borrowed a rifle and tried his shooting skill on signs beside the road. He then handed the gun back to Paul Picha.

The lads were "fooling around" as boys will, and Paul Picha told Jimmy that if he moved a stone in the road he would be given another shell so he could try the rifle again.

In playful fashion to enforce his will, Paul swung the rifle toward Jimmy. He thought the safety catch was engaged.

Fred Foote, of New Westminster, who had been hunting in the Little River vicinity, was "flagged down" by the boys and took the wounded lad to Chase. While the lad was being taken to Kamloops he mumbled on several occasions between Chase and Monte Creek, but from there on was silent. Dr. T. S. Perret could find no sign of life when the wounded lad reached Royal Inland Hospital at 6 p.m.

- An operator at Prince George reports a fuel saving of more than $400 per month. He replaced two gasoline engines with one six cylinder Buda Diesel engine.
- Diesel Engine Torque is much more consistent than that of gasoline engines. This assures a more constant saw speed and consequent cleaner cut.
- Buda Diesels are rated at actual continuous shaft horsepower... not at maximum engine output. This means that Budas can do much bigger jobs than other engines boasting much higher horsepower ratings.
- Four cylinder Budas are being used in portable mills with production capacity up to 14 M. board feet per 8 hour day, powering 48", 52" or 54" diameter head saw; 2-foot cut-off saws; sawdust conveyor and edger.
- Six cylinder Budas are being used in portable mills with production capacity up to 25 M board feet per 8 hour day, one user at Armstrong, B.C., reporting the powering of a 52" dia. bottom saw and carriage; 48" dia. top saw; 100 ft. jack ladder; two 30" cut-off saws; one 40 ft. blower; live rollers and friction with 4:1 ratio on the carriage, and one short conveyor.
- Eight cylinder Budas are being used in mills with average capacity production of from 30M to 35M board feet per 8 hr. day powering such loads as 52" dia. bottom saw; 40" dia. top saw; edger; two 30" cut-off saws; blower; short conveyor and live rollers.
- Buda Diesels have lugging ability to sustain saw speed right through heavy logs without slow-down or backing off for regaining saw speed.

Our Diesel application engineers will gladly give you full co-operation in figuring the most economical method of powering your mill. Do not hesitate to phone, wire or write.

Penticton After 50 More Homes

PENTICTON.—Decision to increase the number of new Wartime Houses now under construction here from 50 to 100 was reached by the council last week.

Announcement by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, that the project would be continued, resulted in a request from Branch 40 of the Canadian Legion, for council to seek the additional accommodation.

At last week's meeting, the agreement covering the 50 houses already under construction came up for review and a motion was unanimously passed to ask Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to increase the number to 100.

At the same time, council agreed to donate five acres of property east of the site of the present houses, to be set aside as a public park for residents of the district.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will be advised of this park site, and asked for their help in its preparation.

Feature of the new agreement is the increase in amounts payable to the municipality in lieu of taxes. For the three types of houses, these amounts are set at $70, $75 and $80 per unit per annum, the agreement to cover a period of 40 years.

The present group of 50 houses is being built by Okanagan Construction Company, Penticton, under contract calling for an expenditure of $240,000.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has not yet made any statement covering the awarding of a contract for this latest group.

Syd A. Hodge, local administrator for the Crown company, stated that there are more than 100 veterans waiting for houses.

If this figure remains constant, all should be taken care of under council's latest move, which has aroused many enthusiastic and appreciative comments.

SCREEN FLASHES

Romance, adventure and an excitement-packed story of the feuds between Yankee and Rebel factions after the Civil War make for big entertainment in "Romance of Rosy Ridge," new Van Johnson starring vehicle, which appears Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Van Johnson has his best role in some time as the virile young Yankee soldier, and is given delightful romantic support by a screen new-comer, Janet Leigh, as the winning country girl. Others in the cast include Thomas Mitchell, Sena Royce, Dean Stockwell and Marshall Thompson.

"Love and Learn," co-starring Jack Carson, Robert Hutton, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige, is the new film scheduled for an engagement at the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday. The picture, a whimsical story of two songwriters' struggle for recognition, tells the humorous tale of Jingles Collins (Jack Carson) and Bob Grant (Robert Hutton) and their involvement with a woman who led her way into their hearts and into a great deal of innumerable trouble for everyone concerned.

Jovial Jack Carson sings several hit tunes and Robert Hutton plays Jingles' partner. He and wistful-faced Martha Vickers make a wonderful love team, and Janis Paige, with her fresh beauty, is charming.

Marking the return to the screen of Ronald Colman after a two-year absence, and introducing the beautiful young British star, Peggy Cummins, "The Late George Apley," filmization of John P. Marquand's Pulitzer Prize novel, opens Wednesday and Thursday at the Capitol Theatre.

In the title role of the hilarious film, Ronald Colman is seen at the staid Bostonian aristocrat, who, still living in the world of birds and bees, is catapulted into the battle of his life when confronted with the facts of life via the "unconventional" romance of his impetuous daughter with a Yale—not Harvard—graduate.

"The Brusher Doubleton," the exciting filmization of the Raymond Chandler best-seller, "The High Window," opens tonight, Thursday, at the Empress Theatre, with George Montgomery and Nancy Guild in starring roles.

In the fast-moving story, Montgomery is seen as suave, smooth but tough Philip Marlowe, Chandler's celebrated fictional detective. Nancy Guild portrays the neurotic young secretary who believes she is a murderer.

On the same bill at the Empress, Leo Gorcey and the Bowery Boys

Bernard Allen
Manager for C.N.R. in B.C.

New C.N.R. Appointments in B.C.

Bernard A. Allen, B.Sc., general superintendent of the British Columbia district, Canadian National Railways, whose transportation career started in 1913, has been appointed manager of the company for British Columbia, according to an announcement by W. R. Devenish, vice-president, Western Region. Mr. Devenish points out that the increasing company activities on the Pacific Coast make it necessary for a change in organization in order to meet the growing demands of railway and steamship services.

The new manager has announced the appointment of John F. Cooper, formerly C.N.R. superintendent of the Port Arthur division, as the new general superintendent for British Columbia, with headquarters at Vancouver. Mr. Cooper commenced his railroad career with the C.N.R. 30 years ago and has had wide experience in various positions in many parts of the west.

Referring to Mr. Allen's appointment as manager for British Columbia, Mr. Devenish stated: "This appointment is made in order to have an official representing the company with a greater measure of authority, so that all business matters, containing upon transportation, rail or water, can be more satisfactorily handled in the business interests of British Columbia and the Pacific Coast."

"General industrial activity in British Columbia has increased to such an extent that the Canadian National Railways is setting up a larger organization to handle the situation. In promoting Mr. Allen to manager for British Columbia, we do so with a full appreciation of the growing importance of the Pacific Coast from a transportation point of view."

Salmon Arm Has Record Building Boom This Year

SALMON ARM.—Now totalling $331,192, building construction in the city and district of Salmon Arm has soared to a record peak this year, despite the acute shortage of materials and other unfavorable factors, according to figures compiled by City Clerk Rex Lingford and Municipal Clerk David Johnston. Even with the approach of winter, there is still considerable activity in construction and the total for the year may yet exceed $400,000.

Salmon Arm's building boom was late in starting, as compared with other sections of the B.C. Interior, but it rapidly gained impetus and soon reached record proportions.

With an adequate domestic water supply assured by the joint project which is now under way, a continuance of the construction program is confidently expected in 1948. This is expected to be particularly noticeable in the municipality where the system will serve large areas of very desirable property, the development of which has previously been retarded by the lack of domestic water. As a result of the expansion of the municipality and the surrounding territory and the increased business now being handled by an expanding retail trade area, the city will share prominently in this development.

In the 1947 building totals, the municipality is leading the city by about $23,000, comparison of the respective figures reveals. The municipal figures totalled $179,797 at September 30, while the city's permits were valued at $151,395 for the corresponding period.

In the third quarter of the year, the municipality issued 43 permits, valued at $55,607. Of that number 19 were for new dwellings, 15 of which were worth $2,000 or more.

The municipal total for the nine months included new buildings valued at $63,600, business premises worth $74,250, a church costing $5,500 and sundry construction of $8,055.

and social studies classes, "Three Little Bruins in Mischief," is a film on animal life showing three little bruins at play in the forests, eating and playing. It also shows the playful activities of young animals with a skunk, badger, and an owl. It will be enjoyed by young and old alike.

It is hoped that during November the number of showings will increase. Any organization wishing special films for Christmas entertainments are asked to get their requests in as soon as possible.

Deep Creek Worships At Harvest Service

DEEP CREEK, Nov. 3.—"Harvest Home" service was held in the Deep Creek hall on October 28, with Rev. Clements, Salmon Arm, preaching the special service. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and vegetables.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Myers, of New Westminster, spent the past week with Mrs. Myers' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. Davidson, while enjoying the pleasant shooting. They were accompanied by H. King, of Burnaby.

Friday evening, R. Martin, Deep Creek school teacher, entertained the kiddies and their parents at a very enjoyable Halloween party in the Deep Creek hall. The room was nicely decorated by pupils, and after the games, delicious refreshments were served by the mothers.

Arbutus In England Grew From B.C. Seed

Along the lower coastal regions of B.C. grows the arbutus which is renowned for keeping its leaves and losing its bark. So picturesque is this tree, windblown by sea winds into many exotic shapes, that early Spanish explorers to this coast 20 years before Captain Vancouver's adventures were attracted by it because of its resemblance to the classic arbutus of Southern Europe. Dr. Menzies, the botanist who sailed with Vancouver, named it the Strawberry Tree because of its red fruit, and David Douglas, the famous Scottish botanist, after whom Douglas Fir is named, collected seeds and shipped them to England where today, 150 years later, British Columbians can grow them ornamentally in many parts of England arbutus trees that sprang from these original seeds.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Can shyness be overcome? Indeed it can! And every bit of progress one makes in this direction is of great benefit. For an effective personality is an asset in almost every occupation, particularly in smaller communities where commercial and social contacts so often overlap.

According to Dr. Henry C. Link, eminent psychologist, personality is best developed by "learning to do an increasing number of things for and with people."

For example, you may have no interest in playing bridge. But if you do, it will help you to develop poise because you have acquired a new skill and are brought into contact with other people. And this contact is made easier for you because you will be engrossed in doing something with them.

Taking part in other games, sports, club life, town council meetings or activities with other people will help cure your shyness. And this, in turn, will help you achieve greater success in your work.

The life insurance companies in Canada play an important part in the economic life of the nation. Every year over 250 million life insurance dollars are invested in farms and industries, apartment and office buildings, and other projects which promote progress and create jobs.
